KNICKERBOCKER CLOSES ITS DOORS

Suspension of Payment Said to be Only Temporary.

New York Stock Market Very Weak, with Sharp Declines.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Knickerbocker Trust Company, the second largest trust company in New York city, with deposits amounting to about $60,000,000, closed its doors at 12:30 this afternoon, following a steady run of persons who called to withdraw their deposits. The company officials declared that the suspension of payment was only temporary. The closing of the doors was attended with sensational scenes at its main banking room and the Harlem branch. Depositors who crowded the rooms, clamoring for their money, were insistent that they be permitted to withdraw even a few dollars, and when this request was declined many refused to leave the building, and police assistance was necessary to preserve order. At the main office, Fifth avenue and Thirty fourth street, after the doors were closed the crowd surged its way inward. The police forced them back to the street again, and from that time a guard was kept in front of the entrance.

The stock market was very weak, and declined sharply, in spite of early efforts made to support prices. Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou announced from Washington that he would support the New York city banks, and it was understood that he would order the deposit of $6,000,000 of government funds in this city as soon as satisfactory security for the sum should be received.

Excitement amounting almost to alarm marked the opening of business in Wall Street. The stock market opened demoralized, under heavy selling by brokers in all departments of the exchange, and at the same moment a run of considerable proportions was made on the Knickerbocker Trust Company. At the main office, Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth street, more than 150 persons were in line at 10:30, and there was a line of carriages that extended for more than a block.

The stock market's opening showed severely the effect of the renewed shock to confidence caused by the spread of financial distrust by the published details of the affairs of the Knickerbocker Trust Company. Prices broke widely on the opening transactions under this outpouring of stocks, but almost immediately rallied. The rebound approximated from one fourth to one half of the first break.

After the severe set-back at the opening, prices of stocks rallied, only to be followed by another break. The second break, in turn, was succeeded by a good rally, the decline having been arrested before the previous low levels generally were broken through. With this demonstration of the effectiveness of support for the market, a somewhat more tranquil feeling ensued.

The stock market opened weak and lower, Reading sold at 82, a decline of 2¾; Atchison at 78, a decline of 2½; St. Paul at 111½, a decline of 1⅝; Pennsylvania at 115½, a loss of 1⅝; Southern Pacific at 71, a decline of 2⅛; Canadian Pacific at 156, a loss of 3½; Amalgamated Copper opened at 44, a loss of 3¼, but quickly advanced to 45. Union Pacific opened at 114, a loss of 3¾.

At about 11:30 the firm tone in the market disappeared under renewed heavy selling. Union Pacific broke to 112½, a decline of 4¾; Reading fell to 80½, a loss of 5¾, while St. Paul sold at 109, a decline of 4¼ from last night. Northern Pacific sold at 112½, a decline of 6 points from last night. The Knickerbocker Trust Company stopped paying money to depositors at 12:30 P. M., the statement being made that the company could not obtain currency fast enough to pay out.

At 12:45 the stock market was in another violent slump. Union Pacific selling at 110, a loss of 7¼; Reading at 78¾, a loss of 7, and St. Paul at 107, a loss of 6¼. At that hour call money was 50 per cent.

At 1:50 P. M. call money was lending at 60 per cent.

There was another crumbling away of prices at 2 o'clock, the active market leaders selling down to the lowest of the day and the lowest of the year. St. Paul sold at 106, Northern Pacific at 109¾, Union Pacific at 108½, Pennsylvania at 113⅞ and Reading at 79.

A loan of $200,000 was made on the Stock Exchange shortly after 2 o'clock, at 70 per cent. Several bankers formed a pool of $4,000,000, which was loaned at between 40 and 50 per cent.

Bankers, brokers and business men came down to their offices early today, to prepare for whatever developments there might be in the financial situation. The feeling of relief and satisfaction with which these men began the transaction of business yesterday was succeeded by considerable nervousnes today, as a result of the developments concerning the Knickerbocker Trust Company. The news made public last night, and printed in the newspapers today, that the National Bank of Commerce yesterday gave notice that it would decline to act as Clearing House agent any longer for the Knickerbocker Trust Company, and the resignation of Charles T. Barney from the presidency of that institution, served to unsettle sentiment more than the Morse-Heinze developments of last week. The magnitude of the business transacted by the Knickerbocker Trust Company, with its deposits amounting to more than $60,000,000, gave a much more serious aspect to the changes made in its management than did the changes in the relatively smaller Morse-Heinze concern.

The announcement of Mr. Barney's resignation was followed by a series of conferences of financial men at Sherry's, which lasted until nearly 2 o'clock this morning. Among those present were J. Pierpont Morgan and his partners George W. Perkins and Charles Steele. Mr. Morgan taking a leading part in the discussion looking to the improvement of the situation.

Three separate meetings were held—one of the directors of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, a second of theTrust Companys' Association, and a third of the bankers and financiers generally—to consider what was best to be done. When the meetings broke up this statement was given out by a committee of the directors of the Knickerbocker Trust Company:

"In view of the fact that Mr. Barney's outside interests has become greatly extended, and in view of his personal position in the directorate of certain institutions recently under criticism, in particular because of his position with Mr. Morse and some of Mr. Morse's companions, he has decided that the best interest of the company would be served by his resignation, although he has no loans with the Knickerbocker Trust Company. He has resigned as president of the trust company, and will resign as a director. He also will resign as a director of the the National Bank of Commerce, which was the Clearing House agent of the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

"In view of the fact that the Knickerbocker will hereafter clear by itself, it was deemed advisable to obtain guarantees of additional cash should it be needed. These guarantees have been obtained, and the Knickerbocker will be amply prepared to meet any emergencies that may grow out of a change in the method of clearing. The Knickerbocker has in its own vaults tonight $8,000,000 in cash. If more cash is needed it will be immediately forthcoming under the guarantees. The meeting of the trust company presidents was largely for the purpose of outlining a plan for a Clearing House of trust companies similar to the Clearing House of banks. This will enable all trust companies to stand together."

In brokers' offices the London quotations on American shares were anxiously awaited. When they were received they showed sharp declines from yesterday's New York prices. At 1 P. M. in London American stocks showed the following declines: Amalgamated Copper 1½, Atchison 3⅜, Baltimore & Ohio 1¼, St. Paul 2⅝, Southern Pacific 2⅜, Union Pacific 3⅝ and United States Steel 1½.

The 2 p. m. quotations in London showed the following declines in Americans: Amalgamated Copper 4, Atchison 3½, Canadian Pacific 2¾, St. Paul 2⅝, Northern Pacific 3½, Pennsylvania 1⅞, Reading 4⅛, Southern Pacific 2¾, Union Pacific 3⅞ and United States Steel 2.

There was a run of depositors to withdraw money at the main office of the Knickerbocker Trust Company when it opened for business this morning, and also at the branch offices of the company, at 66 Broadway and in One hundred and twenty fifth street. At the main office about 75 persons were in line, and others were constantly arriving. Many of those who came to withdraw their money were women.

At 66 Broadway there was considerable excitement. When the office opened for business, a line of about 50 persons had gathered, and made their way to the paying teller's window to withdraw funds. The stream of persons to withdraw deposits steadily increased, and, despite the rapidity with which claims were paid, there were more than 175 persons waiting in line at 10:30 o'clock. Second Vice President Allen, who was in charge of the downtown office, gave out the following statement: There is nothing to be alarmed about. We have $8,000,000 cash in the vaults, and are prepared to meet all demands. The company is perfectly solvent." Mr. Allen said that the fears of alarm created by Mr. Barney's retirement from the presidency of the company will soon be allayed.

Shortly after the main office of the Knickerbocker Trust Company at Thirty-Fourth street opened for business depositors began to arrive in still greater numbers, and at 10:20 more than 150 people were in line at the paying teller's window. Many depositors came in carriages, and the carriage line extended over a block from the bank. At 11 over 200 persons were in line, and the paying tellers were paying the depositirs off at the rate of 40 an hour. Several customers of the company who came to deposit money decided to wait a while when they found a run was in progress.

There was a short run on the Bronx branch of the Company when it opened for business, but was promptly stopped by the arrival of two wagons, from which were unloaded in view of the waiting depositors, big bundles of specie and currency.

At about 12:30 Second Vice President Brown of the Knickerbocker Trust Company announced that the company would stop payment to depositors. He said: "The trust company finds that it will be impossible to pay any more checks today, on account of the company's inability to get sufficient currency. The trust company is perfectly solvent, and may resume payment tomorrow."

An attempt was made to close the doors against the depositors who were waiting outside the office, but they made a dash for the doors and forced their way past the men on guard and into the office. Police were then stationed at the doors. Many depositors soon left the office, but about 150 lingered about for some time.

A detail of police was required to clear the Harlem branch of the Knickbocker Trust Company. The crowd insisted on having their money, and refused to leave the banking room until forced out by the police.

Following the meeting in the offices of the Knickerbocker Trust Company today the following was given out: "The examination of the Knickerbock-

ROOSEVELT WILL HOLD TO POLICIES.

Does Not Think Them Responsible for Trouble.

President Enthusiastically Welcomed in Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 22.—Never before was Nashville so elaborately decorated as today, to welcome President Roosevelt. Flags, banners and pictures of the President were on almost every house in the uptown section of the city, which was crowded with people from a radius of a hundred miles. The weather was cool and bright. The procession was through streets lined with great and enthusiastic crowds. Near the state capitol the parade was stopped to enable the President to view the tomb of President James K. Polk, after which the march to Ryman auditorium continued.

Governor Patterson welcomed the President in the auditorium, and the President's address followed. In the course of his speech the President said: "There has been trouble in the stock markets in the high financial world during the past few months. The statement has frequently been made that the policies for which I stand, legislative and executive, are responsible for that trouble. Now, gentlemen, these policies of mine can be summed up in one brief sentence. They represent the effort to punish successful dishonesty. I doubt if these policies have had any material effect in bringing about the present trouble, but if they have it will not alter in the slightest degree my determination that for the remaining 16 months of my term these policies shall be persevered in unswervingly."

"If, to arouse that type of civic manhood in our nation, it were necessary to suffer and temporary commercial depression, I should consider the cost but small. All we have done has been to unearth the wrong-doing. It was not the fact that it was unearthed that did the damage. All it did was to turn on the light. I am responsible for the turning on of the light, but I am not responsible for what the light showed. It is impossible to cut out a cancer without making the patient feel for a few days rather sicker than he felt before.

"No material well being can this nation have if it looses the lift towards higher things. I am well aware that in any such movement as that in which we have been engaged there are sincere men who take advantage of the movement to do away with the wrongs of wealth—themselves inveigh against wealth. I will permit neither the demagogue upon one side nor the reactionary on the other to drive me away from the course or policy which I regard most vital for the well-being of this nation.

"And the thing most important to remember is that that policy has two sides. It would indeed be an evil day for this nation, it would indeed mean the beginning of the end of our nation's greatness, if we ever permitted in this republic to grow up a spirit which would discriminate against the honest man who achieves business success. There is nothing baser and meaner than the hatred of the man who prospers honestly, simply because he has prospered.

"No man will stand more strongly than I will in the defense of property, so long as it is honestly acquired and honestly used. (Cheers). I will stand against the rich man if he does wrong. I will stand against crimes of brutal violence just as I stand against crimes of unscrupulous cunning. A crime is a crime, and it makes no difference whether the wrong is perpetrated by plutocracy or by a mob; by a capitalist or by a wage worker.

President Roosevelt was taken in an automobile to the Hermitage, the home of President Andrew Jackson, 12 miles from the city. Light refreshments were served in the historic dining room. He visited the tomb of President Jackson and then proceeded to the speaker's stand, where he made another address. On returning to the train at the Hermitage station the party stopped at the Tennessee soldiers' home. The Confederate veterans requested the President's autograph, which was written in a register prepared for the occasion. The special train left immediately for Chattanooga.

Baltimore Banks Strong.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Local banks are said to be in a strong position, and the decline in the New York market has had but little effect on the local market.

Federal Troops Attacked by Maya Indians.

Mexican Soldiers Routed and Camp Looted.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 22.—A despatch from Merida, Mexico, says that a telegram from the distant village of Peto is to the effect that a strong party of Maya Indians attacked the encampment of federal troops at Nohvec, near Bacalar, in the territory Quintan, late Saturday night, and killed seven soldiers and Lieutenant Ramon San Martin. The troops were taken by surprise. After routing the troops the Indians looted the camp.

NOT MADE BY TERRORISTS.

Russian Train Robbers Built Tunnel Near Imperial Residences.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 22.—Considerable alarm was caused by the discovery of a tunnel near the Pavlosk railroad, on account of its nearness to the Imperial residences at Tsarskoe-Selo; but an investigation shows it not connected with terroristic plans. The tunnel, apparently, was being constructed by a gang of train robbers. The line of railroad which it was proposed to undermine was not used by the Imperial family.

DIRIGIBLE RACES TOMORROW.

Airships at St. Louis Could Not Get Machines Ready for Today.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—The dirigible balloon, or airship, races scheduled for today as a part of the week's aeronautic carnival have been postponed until 2 o'clock tomorrow, on account of the inability of the contestants to get their machines in shape while the international cup balloons had the right of way on the grounds in Forest Park. Several of the motor-propelled vehicles are in readiness, however, and these will make exhibition flights late today. Special hydrogen gas of a far lighter quality than that used by the balloons Monday is being manufactured for the use of the dirigibles.

BALLOONS WELL ON THEIR WAY

Conditions Last Night Seemed Ideal for Record-Breaking Flight.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—Drifting along in a direction just west of north, when lost to view in the haze of falling night, and a freshening southwest breeze behind them, are the conditions under which the nine big balloons are competing tonight for the honors attached to the winning of the second international aeronautic cup race. A brilliant moon is shining. Throughout the Middle West conditions seem ideal for a record-breaking flight.

A stiffer wind would have been more welcome to the occupants of the wicker cars, but the five-mile breeze of the lower air stratum gave promise of splendid racing currents in the higher altitudes. The Germans made for the upper courses from the start. The French and the English aeronauts were more conservative, and selected a middle depth, while the Americans raced away at an altitude which seemed to take them just clear of trees and housetops. The St. Louis, one of the largest balloons in the race, came so close to the grandstand that it was seized by soldiers and swept back to a safer starting point, whence it was sent away two minutes after the official word to go was given.

The start of the race was spectacular, and was witnessed by about 100,000 people gathered in Forest Park. In addition, all St. Louis gazed skyward during the late afternoon, but a heavy pall of smoke obscured the view from any great distance. As many as six of the balloons were visible at one time, the American contestants being the first to disappear in the haze along the horizon.

Varying and unverified reports as to the whereabouts of the nine balloons were received tonight. From Effingham, Pana and Taylorville, Ill., three towns about 90 miles east of St. Louis, despatches came stating that three balloons passed there between 6 and 9 o'clock tonight.

At the headquarters of the Aero Club of America a telegram was received stating that balloons were passing over Montgomery City, Mo., at 9 o'clock. Montgomery City is 75 miles northwest of St. Louis. These reports are easily reconcilable, because of different air strata.

The German balloon Pommern, a bright chrome yellow globe, containing 77,000 cubic feet of gas, carrying Pilot Oscar Erbslee and A. Roth, was the first away. The start was made just 35 seconds after the scheduled hour of 4 o'clock. The other contestants followed at intervals of five minutes. As each was sent away the crowd broke into cheers, and until they were well out of view the occupants of the baskets kept bowing and waving their hats in acknowledgment of the demonstration.

The American team came in for the greatest share of applause, and when the St. Louis, entered by the Aero Club of St. Louis, took flight, the shouts and cheers were louder than all that had gone before. A military band stationed in the grand stand played the national anthem of the nation represented as the various foreign balloons ascended.

The St. Louis, the last of the contestants to get under way, was greeted by "Yankee Doodle" at first, and then, amid renewed cheering and shouts of glee, the band struck up "I Don't Know Where I'm going, but I'm On My Way." Just before the St. Louis was dragged into starting position a dove alighted on the pinnacle of the gas bag and remained there until the balloon was well under way.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES GOODS.

Under Sherman Law Holds up $7,000 of Tobacco Trust's Cigarettes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The administration launched a thunderbolt in its prosecution of the trusts when it announced today the seizure by the government of property in Virginia belonging to corporations allied with the American Tobacco Company. The seizure amounted to only about $7,000, but the novelty of the proceeding is none the less striking, for it is the first instance in which the federal government has invoked section 6 of the Sherman anti-trust law, although that statute was enacted more than 17 years ago.

Hundreds of prosecutions have been made by the government under authority of the Sherman law, and some of the most radical measures of the Roosevelt administration have been instituted under its provisions, but up to this time section 6 has been a dead letter so far as any action by the Department of Justice is concerned.

A part of an official notice given out by Attorney General Bonaparte late this afternoon in regard to the surprising invocation of section 6 reads as follows:

"The collector of customs at Norfolk, Va., under direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, and in conjunction with the United States Attorney for the eastern district of Virginia, has seized 175 cases containing 3,750,000 cigarettes, valued at $7,272.50, which were in transit from factories of the British-American Tobacco Company, Limited, located in Petersburg, Va., and Durham, N. C., to New York and foreign countries.

"This seizure was made under section 6 of the Sherman anti-trust law, which reads as follows:

"'Any property owned under any contract or by any combination or pursuant to any conspiracy (and being the subject thereof) mentioned in section 6 of this act and being in the course of transportation from one state to another or to a foreign country, shall be forfeited to the United States and may be seized and condemned by like proceedings as those provided by law for the forfeiture, seizure and condemnation of property imported into the United States contrary to law.'"

The plans for this seizure were kept a profound secret, and it is believed that the American Tobacco Company and the allied corporations were entirely unprepared for the step. The so-called Tobacco Trust, which consists of several domestic corporations, which are strongly allied with several powerfull English companies, is already under prosecution by the Federal government, the proceedings having been instituted in New York early last summer.

It is expected that the seizure of tangible property belonging to the so-called trust will precipitate an action at law in the courts in Virginia, and if the tobacco corporation makes an attempt to recover its property and prevent its disposition according to the law of seizure, many facts of value to the government prosecutors in the principal case against the trust in the New York will be brought out.

KNICKERBOCKER INVESTIGATED.

Charles T. Barney Forced to Resign Presidency of Trust Company.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22, 2:30 A. M.—A fresh element of menace in the banking situation in New York was disclosed this morning, when it was announced that the affairs of the Knickerbocker company, with deposits of $48,635,000, were in such shape that a group of financiers held a meeting, which broke up shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, to devise means to bolster up the impaired credit. The meeting, which was held at Sherry's, was considered of sufficient importance to call for the presence, among others, of three members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Morgan was there, and so were George W. Perkins and Charles Steele.

At the other conference officers of the Knickerbocker Trust Company were present. During most of the period of many hours in which the conferences were in progress they were held in separate rooms. Nothing was given out until at 1:10 a. m. G. L. Bolsseavain, one of the directors of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, came out from the conference and gave out this formal statement: "For reasons satisfactory to Charles T. Barney, president of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, and with which the company is in no way identified, Mr. Barney, consulting the best wishes of the company, and of himself as a stockholder, has resigned from his presidency. Mr. A. Foster Higgins has today been unanimously elected president of the company. Following the practice of other trust companies, the Knickerbocker has this day arranged to clear over its own counters.

A director of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, who has been present at both conferences alternately, came out and said: "There were two groups among the trust companies represented at the meeting. One group has arranged to stand behind the Knickerbocker Trust Company to the extent of $10,000,000 in its clearings. The other has agreed to support to the extent of $5,000,000 in its clearings. The whole trouble arose from Mr. Barney's affiliation with Charles W. Morse and some of Mr. Morse's institutions."

The Knickerbocker Trust Company has been conspicuous among financial institutions, both on account of the huge deposits it attracted to itself, those subject to check, amounting to $48,635,000, and the costly banking offices which were recently completed by it at Fifth avenue and Thirty-fourth street, the value of which, according to the company's report, is $1,250,000.

A. Foster Higgins, the new president of the Knickerbocker, is an insurance broker and is largely interested in Mexico, being president of the Mexican Northern railroad and heavily interested in a number of Mexican mining companies. He has long been a director of the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Mr. Barney was associated with C. W. Morse in the National Bank of North America, the New York Mortgage & Security Company and the Title Insurance Company.

The investigation into the affairs of the Knickerbocker Trust Company was the culmination of the day's work to straighten out the tangle caused by the operations of Charles W. Morse, the Heinzes and Thomases.

Acting under the imperative mandate of the Clearing House committee, the Morse-Heinze-Thomas combination, before the market closed, sold large batches of stocks at prices little better than none at all, in their efforts to raise millions in order to pay up their indebtedness to the banks affected by the recent scare. At the end of the day's business it was announced that these banks, with the help of large loans from the Clearing House, had been fully restored in public confidence. This result was accomplished by a spectacular slaughter in values, however.

ROOSEVELT WARMLY GREETED.

Promises Vicksburg Throng to Push National Waterway Project.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Oct. 21.—Bronzed from his fortnight in the canebrakes, President Roosevelt came to Vicksburg this afternoon and received an enthusiastic welcome. Crowds along the bluffs overlooking the river warmly and noisily greeted the President as he landed from steamboat Belle of the Bends, on which he crossed the Mississippi from Delta under the escort of a committee of 100 citizens. Throngs packed the streets, while a procession headed by the chief executive in a carriage with Mayor B. W. Griffith and General Stephen D. Lee took its way to the National cemetery.

At the Court House square, where an eager concourse filled every available nook and corner, the President made a speech. His theme was the deepening of the Mississippi and its tributary streams. In forceful terms he declared that he was deeply interested in the making of a great national waterway and that efforts in this direction should engage his attention at once. He promised to bring the matter before Congress in his next message. Mr. Roosevelt also paid an earnest and eloquent tribute to the South, speaking with feeling of the men who fought for the Confederacy.

Congressman John Sharp Williams's introduction of the President won tremendous applause from the immense crowd. He said:

"It is an honor for you and me, fellow Mississippians, to meet and entertain with an old-time, full-hearted southern hospitality Theodore Roosevelt, an honor flowing at once from his official dignity and his many excellent traits of private character. He is our chief magistrate, America's chief magistrate of the re-united Dixie land and Yankee land, never so firmly cemented in blood, opinion and sentiment as they are today.

After his address President Roosevelt and his party were driven to the railway station, where at 5:30 o'clock a special train pulled out for Memphis, where the President is scheduled to arrive shortly after midnight. The train will be immediately transferred to the Louisville & Nashville railway and started for Nashville.

MIDDLETOWN.

Supervisors Appointed and Highway Bills Approved.

Successful Opening Night of Aquidneck Grange Vaudeville Entertainment.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The monthly meeting of the town council and court of probate was held at the town hall yesterday afternoon. At 1 o'clock, the hour appointed for the meeting to begin, Councilmen Joshua Coggeshall and William R. Hunter were the only members present. Councilman Philip Caswell was reported as on a visit to the Jamestown Exposition, while Councilmen Arthur W. Chase and John H. Peckham were on jury duty in the superior court in Newport. There was some doubt as to whether a quorum could be obtained and the meeting held, or whether it would be necessary to adjourn. This doubt was soon dispelled by the appearance of Councilman Chase and the meeting was held. Later in the afternoon Councilman Peckham arrived and also took part therein.

Lists of candidates for supervisors of the election to be held November 5 were submitted by both the Republican and Democratic town committees. The Republican list included the names of Lewis R. Manchester, J. Overton Peckham, John H. Spooner, Henry I. Chase, Nathaniel L. Champlin, Jr., and E. Marion Peckham, and the Democratic list the names of Richard H. Wheeler, Jr., Alton F. Coggeshall, Dennis J. Murphy, George Nathan Smith, Fillmore Coggeshall, Jr., and Charles P. Smith. Councilman Hunter moved that John H. Spooner, Henry I. Chase, Richard H. Wheeler, Jr., and Dennis J. Murphy be selected and they were appointed supervisors.

The town treasurer was instructed to have all the buildings on the town house lot insured against fire, and also all the road machines and implements.

The petition of Lewis E. Payson and others, for macadamizing a portion of Vernon avenue and the boulevard, was continued to the third Monday in November.

Joel Peckham, collector of taxes for the past 16 years, presented reports on the taxes of 1904, 1905 and 1906, showing all the town tax for these three years satisfied, either by payment or remission. Mr. Peckham thought it improbable that any other town in the state could make a similar showing and that the fact reflected great credit on the taxpayers of Middletown. Councilman Chase added that it was further highly creditable to the Tax Collector.

A long list of accounts were examined, allowed and ordered paid from the town treasury, including the following: Peckham Brothers, for crushed stone furnished to district No. 1, 156,550 pounds, $93.47; district No. 2, 646,565 pounds, $382.87; district No. 3, 161,620 pounds, $96.97; district No. 4, 376,485 pounds, $222.45; total $795.76. For highway work in district No. 1, Elmer B. Sisson surveyor, $275.26; district No. 2, William S. Caswell surveyor, $50.75; district No. 3, Nathan B. Brown surveyor, $543.60; district No. 4, William G. Brown surveyor, $267.50; for use of roller, Alton Head, $96; collecting taxes of 1906, Joel Peckham, $150; police service, James Bloomfield, $12.75; police service, Elisha A. Peckham, $7.20; services as janitor, Benjamin Caswell, $11.46; work on watering cart and putting new lock on town hall, Benjamin W. H. Peckham, $3.50; repairing wooden bridge over Bailey's brook in the East Main road, B. W. Peckham, $81.72; repairing fence in rear of town hall, B. W. H. Peckham, $$11.52; carpenter work, N. L. Champlin, Jr., $6.15; legal opinion, W. P. Sheffield $5; board in county jail, $1.66.

In court of probate the first account of Albert L. Chase, administrator, with the estate of David Coggeshall, was verified and passed for record.

The petition of Harriet B. Chase, guardian of Sarah C. Coggeshall, for authority to sell at private sale certain assets included in her estate, was granted.

The petition of Millard F., Ellen E. and Arnold R. Smith to prove the will of William Smith and for letters testamentary on his estate to be granted them as executors, was referred to the third Monday in November and notice ordered thereon.

The petition of Alden P. Barker, guardian of Louise Henry Smith, for permission to sell her interest in certain real estate on Paradise avenue at private sale, and the petition of Augustus L. Caswell and others, to appoint William S. Caswell, administrator on the estate of Hannah E. Caswell, were both referred to the third Monday in November and notice directed to be given.

Under the will of William Smith, the Middletown Methodist Episcopal Church receives a bequest of $500, the income to be applied to the maintenance of a preacher therein. In case the church lapses the bequest passes to the trustees of the New England Southern Conference. Mr. Smith was for many years a member of this church.

A small but appreciative audience attended the vaudeville given by Aquidneck Grange last evening. Owing to other attractions, many waited for the second performance.

The orchestra consisting of Mr Frank T. Peckham cornetist, Mr. W. M. C. Spooner, violinist; Mr. John Meyer, clarinet, and Mrs. W. M. C. Spooner, pianist, rendered music throughout the program.

The first number was a gymnastic quartet consisting of horizontal bar work by Alfred Whitman, Elton W. Peckham, William Peckham and a dumbell exercise, with Mrs. William Hubbell leading. Mrs. Hubbell also executed an exercise with lighted dumbbells.

Then came a comedy sketch, entitled "Taming a Shopper," which was creditably carried out by Mr. William and Miss Florence Smith. The third number was a vocal solo by Mr. Karl Martin Stone, "Goodbye," and as an encore he sang "The moon shines tonight, pretty red wing," with Messrs. A. H. Ward, John H. Peckham and William J. Peckham assisting in the chorus. Mr. F. P. Webber of Newport then read several selections—"Mehitable," "My Sister's Best Feller," "Uncle Seth Morgan's Mail," "The Small Boy Handicapped" and "I Stood Upon the Ocean Strand." "A Farmer's Life for Me," was sung by Karl M. Stone, A. H. Ward, W. J. Peckham and John H. Peckham, with Miss Sadie E. Peckham as accompanist.

Messrs. Austin and Young, as Sylvester and Bill, rendered several selections; also an original sketch, with a political parody, to the tune of "In the shade of the old apple tree." They brought down the house with their original and humorous remarks. Mr. Louis Good of Newport, as banjo soloist, rendered two selections, Miss Mary L. Albro of Newport accompanying on the piano.

The last performance was a comedy sketch, called "A Burglars Welcome," by William A. Peckham and Lizzie T. Peckham. These, the youngest amateur performers in the company, did creditable work. Mrs. Harry E. Peckham accompanied Miss Lizzie Peckham and William A. Peckham in their vocal selections.

Mrs. Isaac Peabody, superintendent of the primary department of the Methodist Episcopal Church has invited the "cradle roll" and mothers to meet at the parsonage Thursday afternoon for a social.

Harold, the nine-year-old son and only child of Mr. and Mrs. N. Clarence Peckham, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Newport Hospital yesterday. The little fellow is considered ill.

Young Men's night will be observed at the meeting of Aquidneck Grange this week, in charge of Julien Peckham and LeRoy N. Peckham.

Mrs. J. McCartney is guest of her mother, Mrs. John H. Manchester, Jr a week.

WAR DEPARTMENT DECISIONS.

The War Department has taken the position that the salary of a retired army officer is not subject to income tax, but that his other property is not exempt. The question arose in Massachusetts, where the state sought to levy the income tax upon a retired officer.

The War Department has passed upon an important point regarding the right of a civil court to call upon military telegraphers for copies of messages which figures in lawsuits. The decision is that when properly subpoenaed the operator may produce private telegrams in court, but that in the case of goverment messages he must at once report the call to higher authorities before responding.

PERSONALS.

....Dr. Basil Lanneau Gildersleeve, professor of Greek and senior member of the faculty of Johns Hopkins University, October 23 will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary to the professorship of Greek at the University of Virginia.

....The gift of $175,000 by Lord Mount-Stephen to Aberlour Orphanage, London, which will provide for the permanent endowment of 100 beds, adds another to the long list of generous acts on the part of a man who rose from herdboy to millionaire by energy and enterprise alone.

....Professor William H. Schofield of Harvard University and Arthur T. Hadley of Yale University probably will begin their lectures at the University of Berlin on the same day. They have arranged to do this in the same lecture room, in the event that Emperor William can be present, each professor taking half an hour.

....The late duke and prince, John Henry XI of Pless, who died recently at Dresden, left cash accumulations amounting to $21,800,000. His successor is his eldest son. John Henry, Prince of Pless, who visited America as Emperor William's representative at the New York chamber of commerce celebration in November, 1902.

....Rev. Reuben Archer Torrey, who opened a religious campaign in a large steam-heated tent in Chicago last week, is a celebrated evangelist. Recently he ended a notable campaign in England, where he preached for five months in Albert hall, London. Dr. Torrey was associated with the late Dwight L. Moody and for some time was pastor of the Moody church in Chicago.

....George Frederick Bodley, the famous architect, is dead. He came to the United States last January to share with his former pupil, James Vaughan, the work of designing the new Washington Cathedral. At the same time he was associated with Gilbert Scott in the building of a great cathedral in Liverpool. Mr. Bodley also designed the Church of All Saints at Cambridge, England, the chapel of Marlborough College, which is one of the finest public school chapels in England, some new buildings at King's College, Cambridge, known after him, and the chapel at Queen's College, Cambridge.

A SONG OF OCTOBER DAYS.

[Wilbur Nesbit, in Chicago Evening Post.]

Ho, the red leaves and the brown
And the pathway leading down
Through the tangle of the thicket to the borders of the brook,
Where the golden-rod ablaze
Signals through October days
'Til our feet are fain to wander to the echo-haunted nook.

Thistle bloom all fine and white
That goes dancing as a sprite
Up and up until it circles in the bosom of the sky,
And the milkweed's bursting pod
That the wayward breezes nod
While it flings its treasures to them as they gaily scurry by

Crickets chirping in a croon
Through the still mid-afternoon,
Snowy clouds that gleam as brightly as a distant, sun-kissed sail,
Whispered rustle of the corn
That would have a sound forlorn
Were it not for all the piping of the merry-hearted quail.

Now cut clover that is sweet
As it was in summer's heat
And that wafts a breath of fragrance clean and pure as that of June;
Blossoms on the very weeds
Mingled with the falling seeds
As though flowered spring and ripened days of autumn are in tune

And the woodbine's scarlet stream
Down the oak tree's side agleam
Like the brimming of a goblet filled with rare autumnal wine,
And the falling of the hulls
In the hushes and the lulls
Times the melody that murmurs in these hearts of yours and mine.

Ho, the brown leaves and the red
Underfoot and overhead
And the maple's golden glory in the sunset's wondrous haze—
With the wine-tang in the air,
So we stand with heads all bare
And thank God, for all the goodness of the rare October days!

ECZEMA NEARLY ALL HIS LIFE

Face and Neck Affected—Itching At Night Was Unbearable—Attended By Six Doctors—Used Arsenic Treatment Three Months, But

FOUND CUTICURA THE ONLY CURE

"I had suffered nearly all my life with eczema of the face and neck. It troubled me mostly at night when the itching would become unbearable and kept me awake a good part of each night. I had at least six doctors at different times attending me, but none of them could effect a permanent cure. One of them gave me arsenic and I tried that for three months, but it did little good, if any. I read a Cuticura advertisement in the paper about one year ago and decided to try the treatment. I used only two cakes of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. It gave me great relief, but after I had stopped using it for a month the eczema came back. As the Cuticura treatment was the only thing that gave me any relief I started it again and persisted with it until I was entirely cured, which took from five to six months, and I have not been troubled since. I still use the soap as it has such good healing qualities and does not irritate the skin as the general run of soap does. I highly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to any one troubled with skin or scalp diseases of any kind. E. W. McPhail, 1511 Market St., Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 29 and Feb. 13, 1907."

DRY THIN HAIR

Prevented By Daily Shampoos With Cuticura Soap

Followed by occasional dressings of Cuticura, the Great Skin Cure. This treatment at once stops falling hair, cleanses the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp, when all else fails.

That is a severe arraignment which a writer in the London Academy makes against the United States. He calls it a "horrible body of death, decay and wickedness" and in forceful summary thus presents his charges: "Briefly, I showed, from American evidence and from unchallenged reports, that (1) the whole judicial system of America had fallen into contempt; (2) that it was corrupt; (3) that its proceedings, as in the Thaw trial,were in the highest degree degraded,offensive and abominable; (4) that its ordinary police methods, as in the case of Signor Caruso, lately honored by King Edward VII., were beneath the standard of Hottentots; (5) that in Chicago, for example, the magistrates and the police were brigands and thieves in league with thieves; (6) that when a poor man, without money to bribe the loathsome press and the more loathsome judge, was executed, he was killed with hideous and revolting tortures; (7) that the deficiencies of American 'justice' were supplied by the kerosene can of the obscene Judge Lynch; (8) that a peculiarly savage and abominable form of slavery was actually engineered by legal officers; (9) that all the municipalities of America are corrupt, and (10) frequently depend on enforced bribes from brothels; (11) that children are held to industrial slavery; (12) that the condition of the poor is unspeakably wretched and far worse than in any other country; (13) that the legislatures are corrupt; (14) that every kind of noisome and poisonous adulteration flourishes together with (15) a host of peculiarly squalid, silly and mischievous impostures known as new religions."

If all this is true of this country after its long climb up the heights of civilization it would seem as though its condition were almost hopeless and that the people might well be discouraged at the task still before them to bring the nation and those who compose it to the plane of high living which is the goal of every country. It is rather humiliating also to have such an array of charges of so serious a nature brought against us when we were rather complacently counting ourselves quite civilized and even rather polished and cultured. This is a terrible awakening from a state of self-satisfaction to an arraignment, which, if proved true, would place us back in the Dark Ages instead of in the twentieth century of enlightenment and growth in all that is good and desirable of attainment. It may be well, however, to have our eyes opened so that we may see how even one visitor to these shores is impressed with this country, sometimes called by others besides ourselves the greatest on the face of the earth.

Instead of taking a stand of lofty indifference and complete ignoring of these charges, ascribing them to indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred ills suffered by the observer who makes them, it might be better to stop and consider if there is any ground for them, even though they are grossly exaggerated. When we do this we are obliged to acknowledge that this visitor has probed into some of the sore spots in our body politic, that he has been a keen observer and has exposed some things of which we ourselves are not proud and would prefer should not be talked about too much. The picture has been painted very dark and we are hardly prepared to acknowledge that it deserves to be depicted as black as it has been made, but we must agree that some of the colors are true to life and need toning down, not by the painter but by ourselves, in order that they may be correctly presented and yet be creditable to us. The arraignment seems exceedingly severe when read in all its baldness, but loses some of its force when analyzed, and yet is bad enough at best.

After making all the allowance we can for perspective and shade we are still forced to accept the picture in some of its details as a correct copy of certain phases of life among us. We are not accustomed to being painted in quite so lifelike a manner with so much attention to details, though we do criticise some of these defects ourselves and say they ought to be remedied. It is not flattering to be thus presented to the world which has been admiring us so much. It is like having the flesh stripped off and the grim gaunt skeleton exposed to public view. The process is severe, but perhaps it will do us good and lead us to try a little harder to remove some of these spots from the national life and tone down some of these defects in the national portrait. It would not be well to have other nations accept this picture as an exact likeness of us, and it would be wise on our part to do something to brighten the background so that the ugly details may not stand out so strikingly, and soften down some of the most prominent features so that the whole will appear more attractive and pleasing. Then we shall be better satisfied and have more reason to be proud of our picture as painted by visitors.

THE "UNEARNED INCREMENT" IN ART.

In these days of rapidly acquired wealth and efforts to obtain culture with equal rapidity great works of art are bringing prices which would make the ill-paid artists who created them turn over in their obscure graves if they could receive the news. Recently a cattle piece by Troyon was sold at auction in New York for $65,000, which was the highest price ever paid in America for a painting, though not by a good deal the highest price paid by an American for a painting. But this price looks small compared with some which have been obtained recently or are now demanded. Dealers paid $5,000,000 for the Kahn collection of works of art in Paris, to be broken up and sold piece meal, and the Ashburton collection in London has just been sold in a lump for $3,000,000.A New York dealer who has relations with the London dealers who took it says that a Murillo in the collection will probably come to New York, where there is a great deal of money waiting for investment in art. He does not suggest what that painting might bring, but two of the Rembrandts he says are worth $200,000 each. One of them was sold 80 years ago for less than $1,500. A Cuyp, which was sold in 1830 for $6,500 he says will be sold for not less than $300,000, and a Hobbema, worth today $150,000, was sold for $2,000, 90 years ago.

These paintings have increased in value in a ratio which would make lots on Broadway or Fifth avenue blush. If one could only tell what pictures were going to rise like skyrockets! Carnegie expressed the wish that the trustees of his art institute in Pittsburg should not spend money for old masters, but for modern pictures which in time will become old masters. Does he think they are seers? Any painting by Millet of Barbizon will bring now more than the poor artist earned in all his life. He always lived on the edge of destitution and only in the last years of his life did a contract which paid him a few hundred dollars a year afford him assurance that he would have enough to eat and warm clothes and a tight roof over his head.

A WIDER CANAL.

Already the Panama canal as planned is pronounced too narrow. The advent of the Lusitania, British battleship Dreadnought and the Delaware type in the American navy, not to speak of the Hamburg-American's projected 48,000-ton liner, has confirmed the commission's experts in their opinion that radical changes are imperative. They are said to declare a conviction that the Atlantic lines will in the near future build great turbine ships which could never pass through the locks as heretofore planned. This would make well-nigh useless such vessels as naval auxiliary ships in time of war.

The question of the relative superiority of a sea level or a lock canal has been started anew by the report of the experts, and those who have favored the sea level canal have embraced this opportunity to again urge the merits of their project. It is not believed, however, that the general plan adopted by Congress for locks will be changed, but that wider locks will be provided to accommodate vessels of the greatest beam yet contemplated. The action of the canal commission in raising the lock question is generally commended. The change can be made now at comparatively little loss, but if found necessary after construction of the locks has been well started the expense would be great, not to mention the delay in finishing the canal.

Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, former president of Brown University and now chancellor of the Nebraska State University, finds himself in hot water after his rather intemperate speech at Washington last week, in which he advocated the wholesale hanging of newspaper editors because the newspapers criticise multi-millionaires. As a result of the speech he may be forced out of the Nebraska university. A storm of protests and critisim is said to be sweeping over the state and on all sides his retirement is demanded. President Andrews was practically compelled to retire from Brown University on account of his outspoken views on the silver question, although he was very popular in the college and had many friends among the substantial supporters of the institution.

Stuyvesant Fish claims that he has won from E. H. Harriman the control of the Illinois Central railroad, and that the agreement to adjourn the stockholders' meeting until December is a virtual acknowledgement by the Harriman supporters of their defeat. The world generally does not care much who wins in this fight, any more than the majority of people care about the rise and fall of stocks.

Secretary Root says the recent peace conference at The Hague accomplished more than he had any reason to expect, and that he is well satisfied with the result. The Secretary evidently regards universal peace as an accomplishment not of one present but of the possibly distant future, and thinks the steps taken by The Hague conference are in the right direction.

The weather bureau instruments continue to record earthquake shocks of considerable intensity, but no one is yet able to locate the quakes. It is now thought that they have taken place in the Indian ocean, west of Australia. A few slight shocks have recently been felt in Central Asia.

One thousand Maine lobsters are to be shipped next month to Alaska, to grow up with the country. The Fish commission is to make an experiment, and the commissioner believes that New England lobsters will "make good" in Alaskan waters.

Maine has a potato crop of 10,000,000 bushels and is feeling quite satisfied, although the present yield is considerably less than the 15,000,000-bushel crop of last year.

It would take a very powerful microscope to discover any political excitement in Newport, but things may be stirred up in the last week of the campaign.

NOVEMBER MAGAZINES.

The Circle for November is a real Thanksgiving number. "The Hoeman's Thanksgiving," by Edwin Markham, must be classed with that other poem, "The Man with the Hoe." William Jennings Bryan has an article, "Why We Ought to be Thankful." Florence Morse Kingsley writes of "A Belated Thanksgiving," and Burges Johnson, "The Thanksgiving Turkey—A Defense of His Ancestry." James W. Van Cleave contributes an article which treats of the relation between trade conditions and the present tariff. An article dealing with betterment along civic lines is "The Spread of the Galveston Plan of City Government," by Brand Whitlock.

With this number, The Circle starts its first serial, "A Free-Lance"; A Story of Modern Life, by Maude L. Radford. Then there is the second instalment of Hamlin Garland's Western story, "In That Far Land," and the tale of "Terence McGuffey, Adventurer," by Marie Manning. For the music-lover, C. Crozat Converse has set Alfred Austin's hymn, "Together," to music, making of it a patriotic song for the Anglo-Saxon. The Business Circle is crowded with suggestions and advice. Dr. Edward Everett Hale edits the Lend-a-Hand Circle, and will continue it as a regular department in future. Particularly timely in the Sports and Game Circle is the treatment by President Chas. F. Thwing, LL. D., of Western Reserve, of the question, "Should Football Be Abolished in American Colleges?"

The opening chapters of a new novel, "Though Life Us Do Part," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, are the feature of the Woman's Home Companion for November. Under the title "Do you Know Your Grocer?" the editor comments on grocery conditions throughout the country.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, one of the editors of the magazine, contributes a talk on "Thanksgiving—Then and Now," and Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson completes her series of three articles on "The Woman in Business."

The other editors, Grace Margaret Gould, Margaret E. Sangster, Dan Beard and Fannie Merritt Farmer, contribute especially interesting departments. The Cooking Departments gives a large number of recipes for Thanksgiving season. There is fiction by Juliet Wilbor Tomkins, Mrs. C. N. Williamson, Herbert D. Ward, and others.

NEW PIANO MUSIC.

Under the new management, the Oliver Ditson Company is putting out some excellent work, both in matter and in form. Among new issues for pianoforte solo, useful for teaching purposes or for amateur playing, and of much higher standard than the so-called "popular" music, are a set, "Forest Flowers," being six easy duets for young players, prime and seconde of about the same difficulty; "Told at Twilight," Charles Fonteyn Manney, a good study in sixteenth note values, phrasing and picture playing; "Spring Thoughts," Anton Schmoll, useful as a study of the triplet and sustained notes, all in second grade.

Third grade pieces cover a variety of work and include "The Sea Gull," Engelmann, requiring lightness in arpeggios, especially in seven chords; "Vanished Dreams," a dainty valse rhythm, Charles P. Scott; "Valse Gracieuse," Carl Wilhelm Kern; a "Tarantelle," by N. Irving Hyatt; "Berceuse," Reginald Steggall; "In the Swing," mazurka form, Paul Wachs, and "Valse Poetique," Adolf Frey.

For more advanced players, and requiring work in fifth grade, are "Seconde Ballade," Homer N. Bartlett, and a transcription of the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," by H. Clough-Leighter, both brilliant composers of the modern school.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Johnston Republican Organization Beaten by Good Government.

Contracts for Improvement of Bristol and Warren Water Works System.

The Republican organization in Johnston was routed by the Good Government forces last evening in the most bitterly fought caucus which has occurred in that town for many years. When midnight came there were yet three places on the town council ticket unfilled, with the Good Government forces winners in the contests up to that point. Then the caucus terminated in a turbulent uproar, a wrangle over a demand that the caucus officials should certify to the nominations made continuing to the expiration of the last hour of the day in which nominations could be filed with the town clerk. It was a crushing defeat for the Republican town committee, of which Colonel Frank W. Tillinghast, head of the executive committee of the Republican state central committee, is chairman. The opposition to the town committee had been steadily growing since the first announcement that it was the intention of the men in control to re-nominate John Walch for a third term as Senator. It culminated in a rallying of voters from all parts of the town, who went to Thornton last evening in all sorts of vehicles, chartered trolley cars, party wagons, farm wagons, carriages and automobiles being pressed into service.

The Bristol & Warren Water Works Company has awarded contracts for the improvement of the water system which supplies the towns of Bristol and Warren and a portion of Barrington. According to the specifications a new system of filters is to be installed at the reservoir on the banks of the Kickemint river in Warren by May 1, 1908. The stock of the concern was purchased last year from the Norman interests by Colonel Samuel P. Colt and at the annual financial town meeting in Bristol last spring the taxpayers decided to allow the property to revert to Colonel Colt and his interests. The filtering of the water from the source named was one of the points agreed upon. Ground is to be broken at once in a six acre lot northwest and adjoining the present pumping station on the west bank of the Kickemuit river in Warren by May 1, filter system and contracts have been let to the Aberthan Construction Company of Boston, to build the filter tank's basin and sand beds, while the New York Construction Jewell Filtration Company is to equip the filters with pipes, machinery and other furnishings necessary to the outfit. There is also to be a new pubping station of brick and of one story in height, with duplicate machinery in case one set breaks down or is temporarily out of repair, each pumping outfit, with boilers and pipes to have a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons daily.

Federico A. Barrera, a full-blooded Filipino, has been admitted as a student at the Providence Technical High School by an arrangement which was made with the school committee by the War Department, acting as the representative of the Filipino government. He is one of a number of young men who are to be educated in the technical schools of the United States, that the knowledge they will thus acquire may inure to the benefit of the rising generations in their native land. A few months ago the Filipino government made provisions for the education in the higher mechanical and textile arts of 125 of the younger men of that country, those who had already acquired an education in the languages, mathematics and the ordinary branches of study. Federico A. Barrera is 24 years of age, a native of Manila. He attended the Tokio University, where he perfected his Spanish and acquired a good command of the English language, which he speaks well and writes better. He will at once take up the leading features of the textile school work and at the conclusion of his course will be transferred to Boston, where he will be entered as a special student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The stone mill on Sayles avenue, Pascoag, which has been shut down several months, will resume operations about January 1, when it will be started by Albert H. and Fred L. Sayles, who will manufacture fancy worsted goods. William Lacey, formerly superintendent of Prendergast's mill, will be in charge. The plant will give employment to about 100 hands. The mill is owned by the Pascoag Realty Company, of which Fred L. Sayles is president. It was built last year and leased by the Hawthorn Worsted Company, which was composed of Samuel Mellor and Paul A. Schwartz. The company went into the hands of a receiver several months ago and the machinery was bought by the Realty Company. Several persons have looked over the plant with the intention of leasing it, but the Messrs Sayles, who operate the Union and Lincoln mills, decided to operate it themselves.

The threatened trouble at the Woonsocket Rubber Company's Alice Mill in Woonsocket over the making of the "Everstick" shoe is probably averted by the notice given yesterday that the last day's making on the gum-shoe ticket will be Thursday, and that "any makers who care to try to make a full ticket of 'Eversticks' within a reasonable time will please notify the overseer at once." It appears from the notice that the help will not be compelled to make the "Everstick," but that refusal to do so may mean less work at the Woonsocket plant.

The building committee of the directors of the Lawton Spinning Company of Woonsocket has awarded the contract for the construction of the concern's new $450,000 thread mill in the Privilege district of Woonsocket to the J. W. Bishop Company of Worcester, the lowest bidders. The contractors will begin excavating for the foundations this week and have signed an agreement to have the building ready for the installing of the machinery by March 15, 1908.

Oliver W. Slocum, for many years a highly respected resident of East Greenwich, died at his home in that village, from an affection of the liver and infirmities of age. Mr. Slocum was one of those who were attracted to the Pacific coast by the discovery of gold in California, making two trips there. His first was in 1849, when he went by sailing vessel around Cape Horn. His invention of an improved sieve for the washing of gold benefited his fellow miners, but brought no fortune to the inventor, nor were his labors rewarded by any great amount of gold. After a stay of about three years Mr. Slocum returned to Rhode Island, but in 1857 made a second visit to El Dorado county, remaining that time about two years, with about the same results as before. Returning to Rhode Island a second time he took up his trade as a carpenter, and for many years was pattern maker at the Harris Steam Engine Works in Providence. For nearly half a century a resident of East Greenwich, and never a seeker of public office, he was called to public service in various capacities, acting as a member of the town council, and one of a committee to introduce water into the town. For a number of years he was superintendent of the East Greenwich Water Supply Company, relinquishing the position about three years ago because of failing health. He also represented the town in the General Assembly, serving both as senator and representative, being chosen as a Democrat, though the town was strongly Republican. Oliver W. Slocum was a son of Cary D. and Dorcas (Watson Slocum of South Kingstown, where he was born March 6, 1827.

J. C. McCoy, who is entered in the international balloon race at St. Louis, is well known in this state and has lived for several years, when not traveling abroad, at his home at Nayatt Point. Mr. McCoy married a daughter of the late Daniel Littlefield of Central Falls, nearly 20 years ago. He and his family occupy the Nayatt Point estate whenever they are in this country. The Nayatt property is a part of the Littlefield estate and is one of the show places of that locality. Mr. McCoy, although a man of leisure, has become much interested in automobiling and ballooning during the last few years and maintains a large garage at Nayatt.

Taylor, Treasurer, and to all others interested in the land hereinafter mentioned.

(SEAL) GREETING:

WHEREAS, Addison Thomas and others, by their petition to the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newport, in said State, have prayed said Board to declare the following described piece of land to be a public highway, to wit: a certain open street or way called Prairie Avenue, being about forty feet in width and extending from Catherine Street to Kay Street, and representing that said highway has been quietly, peaceably and actually used and improved and considered as a public highway for the space of more than twenty years last past, AND it being shown to said Board that you are interested in, or have claims to said land through which said so-called highway is laid, or some part thereof; said Board referred the consideration of said petition to the Fifth day of November, A. D. 1907, at 8 o'clock P. M. in the Aldermanic Chamber in the City Hall;

YOU are therefore hereby notified to appear before said Board, at said time and place, if you see fit, to show cause if any you have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted and said piece of land declared by said Board of Aldermen to be a public highway according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Ordered and given by said Board of Aldermen on the First day of October A. D. 1907.

Signed and sealed by order and in behalf of said Board of Aldermen by David Stevens, Clerk of said Board, on the day last aforesaid.

FRANCIS N. FULLERTON,
City Clerk.

Poll Tax Notice.

ALL VOTERS who have not been assessed a tax on either real or personal estate have been assessed a poll tax of $1, and are hereby notified to call at the office (or send by mail) and pay the same between October 15 and November 15.

The office is open daily from 10:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M., and on Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Chapter 900, Section 1 of 1890 and Chapter 47, Section 6 of 1896, provide as follows:

If any person against whom a tax is assessed in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter shall refuse or neglect to pay the same for 30 days after the same is due, the collector of taxes shall demand the same of such person with 25 cents for the cost of such demand and if any such person upon whom demand is made as aforesaid shall neglect or refuse to pay such tax, together with the cost of making such demand within five days after the date of such demand, then the collector of taxes shall unless said tax has been remitted, as is herein before provided, levy upon the body of said person and commit him to jail in the county of Providence, there to remain until he shall pay such tax and all legal costs, including cost of making the demand as aforesaid, or be discharged therefrom in due course of law.

The Supreme Court of the State has recently rendered an opinion sustaining this law in every particular.

PRESIDENT TALKS TO NEGROES.

Tells Inhabitants of Mound Bayou How to Make Success of Life.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 22.—The President's special made a stop of three minutes late last night at Mound Bayou, Miss., where all the inhabitants are negroes. Practically the entire population was congregated at the station. The President said: "It is a great pleasure for me to see you, and I have heard much of the prosperity of your town. I am glad to learn that you have not permitted a saloon in the limits. The qualities that make good citizens must come from within, and not without. The law can give absolute equality of treatment, absolute justice before the law, to all men, big or little. It should treat them all alike. But after the law has done its part, it remains true that the fundamental factor in any man's success in life is his own character, his own capacity for work, for doing justly by his neighbors, and getting justice from them in return.

"I congratulate you upon the evidences of prosperity that even tonight I can see here, and upon what I have heard about you. There is no royal road to good citizenship or to success in life. If a man is a good bread winner; if he works hard and faithfully; if he is thrifty, and if he tries to save money; if the woman is a good housewife, if she does her part, then that man and that woman will achieve success in life. No one can give it to them from without; all that can be done is to try to get them fair play and then to trust to their own qualities for the actual achievements.

"If the man gambles or drinks, if he is a trifler and idler, if he does not do his work, if the end of each year sees him a little in debt and complaining not of himself, but that somebody outside has not done as well by him as he expected; if he complains that the weather was not good or the cotton failed, but never mentions his own fault, that is the type of man we cannot help. If the woman does not do her part fairly and honestly in the household, or if each does not act so that the persons in the next house are glad to have them as neighbors, then failure is sure to come.

"I welcome all that I have learned about this town. I am glad to see the children here. I hope you will see them well brought up; that you will have good schooling for them, and yet that you will remember that no school can entirely take the place of good home teaching. The father and mother have to do their duty to the children, for the teacher cannot wholly take their places. Teach them reading and writing, but also teach them to do well industrially."

ROBITSCHECK SENTENCED.

Three Months for Using Mails to Extort Money from Salvation Army.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Solomon Robitscheck, the second-hand clothing dealer of Lowell, who was convicted of using the mails in the furtherance of a fraudulent scheme to extort money from the Salvation Army, was sentenced to three months in the Charles Street jail by Judge Frederick Dodge, in the United States district court today.

Robitscheck took his sentence calmly. Before it was pronounced the defendant made an address to the court, in which he asked for leniency. In imposing sentence, Judge Dodge said it was a question in his mind if Robitscheck was so constituted mentally that his offence did not seem so serious to him as it would to others.

Robitscheck's alleged crime was to force the Salvation Army to pay him $30,000 for the suppression of a poem he had written reflecting on that organization. Bennett Silverblat, a Lowell attorney, who was arrested at the same time as Robitscheck, in connection with the case, was discharged by the jury.

FROM THIRTY-TWO STATES.

Four Hundred Delegates Attend Civic Federation at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The "Trust" conference of the National Civic Federation which is to continue for four days, opened here today. About 400 delegates were present, representing 32 states and approximately 30 organizations of a mercantile civic and municipal character. President Nicholas Murray Butler delivered the principal address.

BARTLETT'S ATTITUDE.

General Soon to Make Statement of Position Regarding Campaign.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—General Charles W. Bartlett, an independent candidate for governor on an anti-merger ticket, and whose name was thrown off the Democratic ticket by the recent decision of the ballot law commission, stated that, while no definite plans have been made for his campaign, a statement will be issued within a few days regarding his attitude. General Bartlett has been in frequent conference with Chairman John P. Feeney of the state committee, Daniel J. Kiley, chairman of the executive committee, and George Fred Williams, but the nature of the meeting has not as yet been disclosed.

The Democratic state committee has not yet taken any part in the campaign, arrangements for the Whitney meetings throughout the state being in the hands of Mr. Whitney's campaign managers.

PILOTED BY MAJOR HERSEY.

Competing Balloon Reported Passing Over Lake Michigan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—One of the competing balloons from St. Louis, that piloted by Major H. R. Hersey of the weather bureau, is reported to have begun passing over Lake Michigan. The report came in a despatch received today by Professor Willis M. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, from Observer Bowie at St. Louis, as follows:

"Major Hersey reported to have started across Lake Michigan from Zion City, just north of Chicago, this morning. I think he will make a record trip."

TRAVELED 175 MILES.

Balloon Sighted at South Haven at 8:45 Over Detroit at 1 P. M.

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—A balloon passed over the northern part of Detroit at 1 o'clock, apparently about 1,000 feet in the air. It was impossible to distinguish the forms of its occupants. If this balloon is the same one which was sighted at South Haven at 8:45, and sailed as far as Stockbridge up to 11:45 a. m.—and it undoubtedly is—it has traveled about 175 miles in an air line from 8:45 a. m. to 1 p. m.

OVER SPRINGFIELD AT NOON.

The Pommern Takes Northeasterly Course, Sailing 25 Miles an Hour.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio., Oct. 22.—(Noon) One of the St. Louis balloons is now passing over this city. It is sailing at the rate of 25 miles an hour in a northeasterly course, at an altitude of 500 feet.

The balloon which just passed over this city was flying the German flag. A letter was dropped which conveyed the information that the balloon was the Pommern. The letter also stated that the aeronauts had used 30 bags of ballast sand and had 2,000 pounds left.

REPORTED BY LONG DISTANCE.

St. Louis Balloon Passes Over Union City, Tenn., at 9:45 A. M.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—A long distance telephone message was received here today from Union City, Tenn., that one of the St. Louis balloons passed over there at 9:45 this morning, traveling rapidly southeast.

BAD EXPERIENCE AT SEA.

Schooner Wyman, Disabled, Towed Back to Vineyard Haven.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass Oct. 22.—Schooner Charles E. Wyman, Captain Nye, from Edgewater for Portland, with a cargo of petroleum, which sailed from here Sunday morning, was towed back to this port late last night by tug Nottingham, partly dismasted. When the Wyman was between Nausel and the Highlands of the Cape, Sunday night, she encountered a northeast gale, during which her mizzenmast, with everything attached, went over the stern, the boat was smashed to splinters, the maintopmast was carried away, the mainsail was torn, and other damage was sustained. Peter Devise, a seaman, was struck by the falling wreckage and had one arm broken. He was taken to the Marine Hospital here today. The Wyman ran back to an anchorage off Handkerchief shoals, and was picked up last night by the Nottingham and brought here. Her hull was uninjured.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

New York, Oct. 22, Minneapolis from London.

New York, Oct. 22, Vaderland, from Dover.

New York, Oct. 22, Grosser Kurfurst, from Bremen.

BOSTON, Oct. 22, Manitou, from Antwerp.

STRAW RIDE AND DANCE.

Last evening the clerks of the Newport Dry Goods Store gave a straw ride, for which two large party wagons were required, as there were both "Adams" and "Eves" on the outing, each believing that the other was necessary for complete enjoyment. After the trip around the Ocean Drive the wagons deposited their cargoes in front of the Red Men's building, where the party took possession of Harmony hall and had dancing and refreshments. Miss Gertrude West presided at the piano and the committee in charge was made up of Misses Helena Sullivan, Bella Gerrie and Lilian Crowell.

OPENING OF EVENING SCHOOLS.

The public evening schools opened last night in the Townsend school building, with what seems a rather small attendance. The conditions in Newport do not seem to call for much in the evening school line, judging from the number present. The figures are: Elementary schools, 21 men, 11 women; total, 32. Stenography 16, drawing 18, bookkeeping 10, total 76. The class in stenography promises to be better than before. Two evenings a week are given and with steady application the pupils should be able to show good results at the close of the school.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN MURPHY.

Mr. Dennis Murphy—Captain Murphy he was to his many friends—died at his home on lower Thames street early Sunday morning, after a short illness. He was one of the rugged, honest, hard-working men who help to make better the place in which they live. He was a veteran of the Civil war, one of the old-time parishioners of St. Mary's and a man who was held in esteem by all who knew him. He leaves three daughters, Misses Mary and Julia Murphy and Mrs. Thomas J. Boyle.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Carver Green of Providence is in town.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wysong are at Hot Springs, Va.

—Miss Maude Wetmore went to New York this afternoon.

—Commodore Ledyard has closed his cottage near Castle Hill.

—Miss Elizabeth L. Facher has returned from a visit to New York.

—The moon made a pretty showing early last evening. It was a picture worth seeing.

—Mrs. Francis Morris has gone to New York to visit her father, Hon. Henry Bedlow.

—Mr. and Mrs. Karrick Riggs left today for Boston, where they have taken rooms at the Touraine.

—Mrs. Hannah Nash and Miss Annie T. Sullivan have returned from a visit to Ashburnham, Mass.

—Mr. Percival Rose and Mr. Samuel M. Rose, who have been visiting here, returned to Block Island this afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Grover Condit of Brooklyn are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Raymond on Chestnut street.

—Mrs. Fred W. Meier, accompanied by her two children, has gone to Norfolk to join her husband and visit the Jamestown Exposition.

—O. P. Nathans and F. P. Wetherell of New York, M. P. Rose of Bar Harbor and T. J. Forest and W. C. King of New York are registered at the United States Hotel.

—DeBlois & Eldridge have rented for John Merker the store in the Sherman block, Bellevue avenue, adjoining one occupied by him, to George Harris of New York, for the season of 1908.

—The wind is blowing in real fall style today, and the dust is coming up the wharves to Thames street in sheets which make one wish the flood had not washed the dustoline overboard. It is needed in this sort of water.

—The weather today is an improvement on that of yesterday, in the opinion of most people. Perhaps the clothing dealers would prefer yesterday's kind, for it leads to the purchase of winter clothing, but this kind suits others.

—There was a still alarm just before 11 o'clock last night, for a shingle fire on the building at 13 Elm street, owned by Nelson & Peckham. The fire caught from a locomotive and was easily extinguished, but some new shingles are needed on the roof.

—A. OD. Taylor has sold to Raphael Pumpelly a tract of land 100 feet in depth and running 425 feet towards the south along Eustis avenue. This land intervenes between the reservoir embankment and Eustis avenue. The sale is made for the Gibbs Land Company.

—The Rogers High and St. George's School football teams will meet tomorrow in the first of their season's games. Judging by the play of both last Saturday, they are quite even and a close game should result. The St. George's boys have had more practice and are especially good at tackling. Besides, they have the confidence which their victory of Saturday gives.

THE RISE IN FLOUR.

Price of Bread Goes Up and Loaves Grow Smaller—Meeting of Bakers Called.

Flour has risen $1 a barrel—perhaps some people have noticed the fact. Also, the rise was like that of the balloons at St. Louis, very rapid. This rapidity and the altitudinous character of the rise have caused the bakers to think. The result of their thinking can perhaps be seen in the size of the loaves, rolls and other things which they put out, also in the price. The price has followed the example of that of flour, but the size has adopted the habits of the parachute and come down. Of course the people will suffer finally, as they always do, by paying more money for less bread—but the bakers are not growing rich fast and cannot stand that rise in flour.

That there should be some concerted action in regard to this sudden and unexpected rise in the price of flour has seemed to many bakers good cause for forming a union. They will not call it a union, but it will be if it meets and agrees on a standard for the size of loaf and the price to be charged for articles which contain flour, the prices of which are increased by the sudden boom in the cost of flour. A meeting of bakers has been called to talk about these matters.

In the grocery trade the boom in the price of flour is expected to be but temporary, but if the bakers put up the price of bread it is probably safe to say that they will see no good reason for dropping it when the price of flour drops.

COMES INTO FORTUNE.

A. G. Vanderbilt, on His Thirtieth Birthday, Receives Half of His Father's Residuary Estate.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, under the terms of the will of his father, Cornelius Vanderbilt, has come into possession of one half of the residuary Vanderbilt estate, estimated at from $24,000,000 to $30,000,000. The will provided that A. G. Vanderbilt should inherit all the residuary estate, to be held for him in trust until he became 30 years old, when one half of it should be paid him and the other half when he became 35. He was 30 years old Sunday.

An accurate estimate of the value of the residuary estate has never been made. Different valuations put it at from $48,000,000 to $70,000,000. For the last eight years Mr. Vanderbilt has received only the interest or profits from this vast fortune. The residuary estate was given to the executors in trust. They are Alfred G. Vanderbilt himself, William K. Vanderbilt, Reginald C. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew and Edward V. V. Rossiter.

Cornelius Vanderbilt left to his eldest son, Cornelius, Jr., $1,500,000. Each of his other children received absolutely $1,500,000. Miss Cornelius received $2,000,000 and a trust fund sufficient to yield her an income of $250,000 annually.

The will also provides that if Alfred G. Vanderbilt dies before coming into possession of any or all of such estate and leaves children surviving him, the undistributed part is to be divided into equal shares and held in trust for such children until they come of age. But in the event of there being no children living at the time of his death or their dying before coming of age, then the testator's son, Reginald, in all respects as to the undistributed portion of said residuary estate, is to stand in the place and stead of Alfred, receiving the income until he is 30 and then half the principal, and the income of the balance until he is 35, when he is to come into possession of the balance.

"On the contingency that both Alfred G. and Reginald die without issue before being put into possession of said estate, then the testator's daughters, Gertrude and Gladys, are made residuary legatees in equal shares, their children taking the parent's share in case either dies before that time."

Just before the will was probated Alfred G. Vanderbilt gave to his brother Cornelius $6,000,000, thereby placing the latter on an equal footing with Reginald Vanderbilt and his two sisters.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular Correspondence of the News.]

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Bullard have returned from a trip to Washington and the Jamestown Exposition.

Mrs. J. Howard Ellis has returned from a trip to Boston.

Mr. J. P. Cotton of Newport, who has the contract, for the new athletic field at Fort Greble, will commence work this week.

Mr. Arthur B. Mitchell, who has acted as assistant purser for the Ferry company, has finished his duties for the season.

Ice to the thickness of a quarter of an inch formed on shallow pools of water at several places on the island last night, and all tender plants suffered unless they were in sheltered places.

The announcement of the marriage of Mr. Lyman O. Smith, formerly of Jamestown but now of Wrentham, Mass., son of the late Rev. G. H. Smith, to Miss Annie W. Hodgdon of East Boothbay, Maine, has been made. The marriage took place October 15 at the home of the bride. Mr. Smith is at present employed at Brown & Sharpe's, Providence, and the newly wedded couple will make their home on 10 Common street in that city.

HOSPITAL DONATION DAY.

Donation day at the Newport Hospital is arranged by the Women's Aid Association, to draw attention to the need of certain articles which can be supplied by housekeepers and others and the receipt of which would be appreciated. The hospital will be open for inspection and the members of the Association will be present to tell about its work and the needs in the various lines, such as groceries, fruits, preserves, old linen, etc.

THROWN OUT BY COURT.

Case of Davis vs. Smith Non-Suited Owing to Discrepancies in Dates of the Claim.

Judge Brown had a short session of the superior court this morning. Three cases were on the docket, but were disposed of in short order.

Amelia M. Wilbor vs. Charles Grant, alias, was continued.

In Mary Horgan vs. Harry O. Cooke, Mr. Nolan for plaintiff and Mr. Burdick for defendant, the latter submitted to judgment for $120.

Annie D. Davis vs. Edward L. and Eliza G. Smith, executors, took a little time, being given to a jury. Judge Burke was for plaintiff and Mr. Burdick for defendants. Plaintiff was a daughter of the late Edward C. Smith and sued for $215, for care and 50 weeks' board of her father. The bill was filed in the probate court and disallowed by the executors. Probate Clerk Hazard and another witness testified.

The case came to a full stop in a non-suit. The claim was for the period between May 30, 1902, and May 14, 1903. It should have been 1901 to 1902. A parallel case had been decided in the supreme court. As no portion of the claim was for what took place between the dates alleged in the claim, the court threw out the whole case.

As two weeks had elapsed since the jurors were in attendance, they were all discharged.

At 10:25 the court adjourned to Wednesday at 9:30 a. m.

THE COACHING CLUB'S DRIVE.

The whips for the Coaching Club's long distance drive Saturday to Blairsden will be Reginald W. Rives, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Colonel William Jay, H. E. Coe, Seymour L. Cromwell, C. Ledyard Blair and E. T. H. Talmage, all of whom will take turns in driving Mr. Blair's coach Defiance, which will make the trip from New York to Blairsden, his country home near Peapack, N. J.

The start will be made from the Metropolitan Club at 9 o'clock, and in addition to those already mentioned there will be on the coach E. Victor Loew, Jr., W. Goadby Loew, T. Suffern Tailer, G. L. Boissevain and G. G. Haven, Jr. The coach will pull up at the Whippany Club for luncheon, and is due at Blairsden at 1:30 p. m. The return trip will be made Monday, and the Defiance is due at the Metropolitan Club at 5:30 p. m. The trip will be made by way of Elizabeth, Madison, the Mendham Road and Woodmere Farm.

SCHONBRUNN.

Historic Palace Where Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria is Lying Ill.

(Marquise de Fontenay.)

Popular attention on both sides of the Atlantic has during the last week been to a great extent centred upon Schonbrunn owing to the illness there of the venerable ruler of Austria and Hungary, who was born there 77 years ago, and who has for years been occupying there the very self-same apartment in which he first saw the light of day. It is there that he proposes to breathe his last, for he has refused all of the entreaties of his physicians and entourage to transfer his abode to a sunnier and more cheerful wing of the palace. Schonbrunn has always been his home, and particularly since the death of his only son, nearly 20 years ago, he has used the Hofburg, or imperial palace, at Vienna merely for the transaction of official business and for state functions.

Schonbrunn is an immense building, containing some 1,500 rooms of various sizes and inasmuch as the description contained in the guidebooks is of the most meagre order, a brief pen sketch of the place may be of timely interest. Schonbrunn is situated in the western suburbs of Vienna, and in olden times and as late as the Thirty Years' war seems to have been used as a sort of shooting lodge by the imperial family, the chateau having been almost entirely destroyed by fire on the occasion of the siege of Vienna by the Turks in 1683. It was rebuilt in the early part of the eighteenth century according to the designs of the celebrated architect Fischer von Erlach, to whose taste the city of Vienna is indebted for many palaces of the great nobles and magnates dating from that epoch which now adorns the metropolis, but it was not completed until in the reign of Empress Maria Theresa, who used it as a summer residence, and who caused the glorietta, or species of semi-circular raised gallery surmounting the highest portion of the grounds, to be constructed. The magnificent gardens near the trace of the genius of Lenotre, the creator of the gardens of the palace of Versailles, and since the reign of Emperor Joseph II the gardens and also the immense park by which the palace is surrounded have been accessible to the general public on certain days of the week Among the features of the grounds is the beautiful fountain, the schone brunnen, from which the palace takes its name.

Napoleon I established his headquarters at Schonbrunn in 1804, and again in 1809, bringing on the latter occasion the company of the Comedie Francaise from Paris to give performances in the private theatre of the palace. It was at Schonbrunn that his son, Napoleon II, Duke of Reichstadt spent his entire childhood and youth, occupying the same apartment that had been tenanted by his father, to whose memory he was so devoted. In fact, he breathed his last, in 1832, in the very bed in which his father had slept in Schonbrunn, and it may be stated that he was nursed in his last illness by Archduchess Sophie, mother of Emperor Francis Joseph, and who, on the day before the young duke's death, gave premature birth to that equally ill fated prince who perished in Mexico under the name Emperor Maximilian in consequence of his desertion—some call it betrayal—by Napoleon III and Empress Eugenie.

A few years later the two eldest sons of King Louis Philippe of France, namely, the late Duke of Orleans, and his brother, the Duc de Nemours, came to Vienna in search of wives, and were hospitably entertained in Schonbrunn by Emperor Ferdinand. But after the experiences of Queen Marie Antoinette and of Empress Marie Louise—both of them Austrian archduchesses—the Hapsburgs were unwilling to give their daughters in marriage to French princes. Many years afterward Francis Joseph was induced, not without difficulty, to withdraw from this position, and to give a reluctant consent to the union of his cousin Archduchess Maria Dorothea, to the present duke of Orleans, the wedding taking place at Schonbrunn. But the match has turned out so unsatisfactorily in every respect that the emperor and the princes and princesses of the house have never ceased to deplore their weakness in giving way in the matter.

Naturally the grave illness of the old emperor has also had the effect of turning the attention of the people to the wonderful vault beneath the Capuchin Church at Vienna, where, when laid to rest, he will sleep his last sleep among the remains of some 1,140 members of the Imperial House of Hapsburg. According to an old custom members of the Imperial family have to be buried in wooden coffins—that is to say, the bodies must actually lie in wood, though the outer coffins are of metal. The coffins of emperors and empresses and of their children are covered with black velvet and gold; those of collateral archdukes and archduchesses with red velvet and silver. Emperor Mathias was the first of the rulers of the House of Hapsburg to be interred in the vault since its completion in 1622. Empress Maria Theresa caused it to be considerably enlarged, and after the death of her husband, Emperor Francis of Lorraine, to whom she was so passionately devoted, was wont to visit the vault several times a week, remaining there for hours at a time. Being very stout, she caused an elevator to be constructed so as to enable her to descend to and ascend from the vault without the fatigue entailed by the staircase. On November 3, 1780, she visited her husband's tomb for the last time. But in leaving the vault the elevator stuck fast three times, whereupon she remarked: "I see that the vault will not let me out." On the second day she fell dangerously ill, and before the end of the month she was laid beside her husband in the vault.

SPECULATIVE "BANKERS"

(New York Tribune.)

There has been a growing custom in recent years for men or groups of men with large enterprises on their hands to obtain control of "chains of banks" and so have at their command extensive credit. Men whose commitments are chiefly speculative and uncertain have not been slow to imitate more conservative financiers in this method of controlling credit. The chains of banks affected by the stand of the clearing house were in the hands of men of wealth and standing in the business world, but men whose operations were so extensive as to entail the large use of credit and so speculative as not to commend them to conservative bankers. They were, in the Wall Street phrase, men who were likely to find themselves "over-extended" in a crisis.

The present scarcity of capital makes the control of banks by "interests" of that description extremely undesirable. Enterprises and promotions of theirs which look extremely promising under roseate conditions often take on later a dubious aspect. A bank under their control inevitably becomes extensively involved by loans in the enterprises of its controlling group when the undertakings look favorable. Then when capital becomes scarce the pressure of necessity on the part of the group may lead to a still larger use of the bank's credit. They carry their confidence in their own enterprises into the banks they control, where a dispassionate and unbiassed mind would counsel keeping the bank's commitments in their speculation within strict limits.

It is inevitable that men who have the faith to risk their own fortunes are not unprejudiced advisers in the disposition of a bank's funds. In ideal banking bankers would be bankers pure and simple, and would discriminate in the bank's loans only on the basis of credit. We are a long way from that, but at least the action of the clearing house means that bankers, in their associated capacity at any rate, will frown upon the extreme development of speculative control.

CRANBERRIES HIGHER.

Massachusetts Crop Only About 70 Per Cent of Average Output.

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Oct. 22.—The harvesting of the cranberry crop of the Cape Cod and Plymouth districts, which grow practically all the fruit raised in Massachusetts, is almost finished, and the crop is estimated to be about 70 per cent of the average output. The berries are of generally good size and quality, and because of this, with the small crop, the price has advanced steadily since they were first placed on the market for the present season. The starting price was about $5.50 a barrel, and is now more than $1 above that, with indications of another, equal advance before the Thanksgiving buying starts.

The independent growers are holding their products from the market, in the expectation of this advance, which is looked for soon. The growers who are allied with the Cranberry Sales Company, an organization which controls a large part of the output, however, are generally selling their berries, under the apparent belief that when the Wisconsin crop of 40,000 barrels, which is late, is placed on the market a glutted condition will result and the price accordingly fall, in time for the Thanksgiving trade to take advantage of it. The efforts of the Sales Company to regulate the movement of the crop are watched with interest, not only in Massachusetts, but also in New Jersey and Wisconsin, which share with Massachusetts the furnishing of most of the cranberries consumed in the United States.

The bog owners have encountered several handicaps this season. Barrels and boxes for packing the berries have been scarce, and help, if not scarce, has demanded increased wages, but present indications point to a prosperous season.

CODFISHING PROFITABLE.

Short Trips, Large Catches and High Prices Now Reported.

YARMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 22.—The high price of salted cod in the present market has started a rush for the codfishing grounds by the dory fishermen of Cape Cod. Large catches are reported the rule, after short trips, and if the present favorable condition of the market holds the men expect to be richly recompensed for their work. In order not to overload the market, most of the men are salting the fish and storing a portion of their catches, so that they may place them on the market when it is not possible to fish for them.

WOUNDED AT ANTIETAM.

Death of Captain Charles H. Allen, Well Known Newspaper Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Captain Charles H. Allen, one of the oldest active newspaper writers in Washington, and a veteran of the Civil war, died yesterday, of heart failure. Captain Allen's last work was as editorial writer on the Washington Post for the past 12 years. Captain Allen served in the Thirteenth Massachusetts infantry, and at Antietam he was dangerously wounded. He was born in Waterville, Me., 75 years ago.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpicide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpicide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpicide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpicide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing, for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps or coin to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Crawford Heating Boilers

For Steam and Hot Water Heating

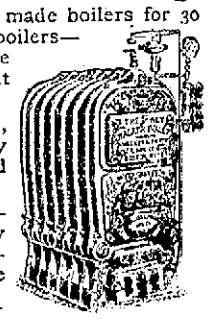

This size for average dwellings

We know the boiler troubles—we have made boilers for 30 years. We are now making a new line of boilers—and they are the only boilers that can be guaranteed to furnish the volume of heat that they are rated to furnish.

These boilers are minus the mistakes, crudities, and defects of other boilers. They eliminate the old troubles, expenses and vexations.

There are no perishable packed joints—no sheet iron parts—no brick linings. They are the easiest to care for—the most economical to operate—the most durable the most efficient heating boilers ever made.

KNICKERBOCKER CLOSES ITS DOORS.

er Trust Company was made by state bank examiners September 11. Their report showed that the Knickerbocker Trust Company had on hand on that date good assets to the amount of $68,884,522, with liabilities of $63,701,531 and surplus of $5,182,990."

The conference of the presidents of the trust companies was said to be held for the purpose of forming a clearing house for trust companies similar to that composed for national banks. A. B. Hepburn, president of the Chase National Bank, and member of the Clearing House, said: "General banking conditions are improving."

A. Foster Higgins, the newly elected president of the Knickerbocker company, was in charge of the company's affairs today. State bank examiners visited the company and started an examination of the accounts.

The presidents of the trust companies of this city met this morning at the office of Oakleigh Thorne, president of the Trust Company of America.

Bonds of the Consolidated Steamship Company, controlled by C. W. Morse, showed weakness in the curb stock market today, the opening sale being at 12½, as compared with 15 last night.

W. F. Havemeyer, the newly elected president of the National Bank of North America, gave out the following statement today: "I can state with assurance that Charles W. Morse at present owes this bank nothing. The bank's holdings of Consolidated Steamship bonds are insignificant."

Charles W. Morse issued the following signed statement: "I have not borrowed a dollar from the Mercantile National Bank since Mr. Heinze was elected president, and I do not owe them a dollar now. Any statements to the contrary are false. I request that, in justice to the public and myself, this statement be given the same publicity that has been given to other matters in connection with the Mercantile bank."

The Clearing House committee went in session shortly after 10 o'clock, and announced the following balances of banks: Mercantile National Bank, $454,000; National Bank of North America, $545,000; National Bank of New Amsterdam, $140,000; Mechanics and Traders' National Bank, $335,000; National Bank of Commerce, $7,000,000. It was officially announced that the Clearing House committee had rendered assistance today to the Mercantile National Bank. It was stated that the large debit balances of the National Bank of Commerce represented the clearances of the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

NO UNEASINESS IN BOSTON.

Hub Banks Have No Connection with Knickerbocker Company.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—That no uneasiness exists in Boston banking circles over the situation in New York was the statement made to the Associated Press today by Charles A. Ruggles, manager of the Boston Clearing House. Mr. Ruggles explained that the Knickerbocker Trust Company, for which the National Banks of Commerce has refused to act as Clearing House agent, has no connections in Boston, and that Boston banks cannot be affected by any disaster that might possibly befall the Knickerbocker Trust Company.

Mr. Ruggles expressed the opinion that New York banking interests will protect the Knickerbocker at this time, inasmuch as the failure of any bank just now might involve several other banks whose accounts might be interwoven with those of the bank in difficulty. Mr. Ruggles also expressed the belief that with the elimination of Heinze, Morse and Barney from the banking business the situation will rapidly become settled again.

Officials of the National Shawmut Bank, by far the largest bank in Boston, and other banks canvassed by the Associated Press said that they feel no nervousness over the New York situation, partly because the Knickerbocker Trust Company has no Boston connection, and partly because they believe the allied banks of New York will avert a crash.

Business men of this city are watching closely the New York financial situation, which many regard as serious. Thus far the only effect here of the disturbed conditions in New York has been an unsettled condition of the stock market, especially with reference to copper shares.

The Knickerbocker Trust Company has no Boston connection whatever. The Mercantile National Bank of New York and the National Bank of North America of New York have correspondents here, the institutions being among the strongest in the city. Bank men say that there is practically no possibility of Boston banks being involved by prevailing circumstances. It is the general sentiment in banking circles that the New York bank interests will stand together to prevent disaster.

Today's market opened weak. Coppers were lower.

PHILADELPHIA BANKS STRONG.

Market Only Slightly Affected by New York Demoralization.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—The Philadelphia stock market was only slightly affected by the semi-demoralization in the London and New York markets. Financiers and brokers who are in a position to know assert that the Philadelphia banks are in a strong position, and able to withstand any drain to which they may be subjected.

LONDON MARKET VERY WEAK.

Knickerbocker Changes and Selling Orders Cause Marked Uneasiness.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The cable despatches received here from New York regarding the changes in the management of the Knickerbocker Trust Company and the receipt of heavy selling orders from New York caused marked uneasiness on the Stock Exchange today. Americans, which opened strong, following Wall Street's closing quotation of yesterday, fell heavily on wild reports in connection with the financial situation in New York, and liquidation by American houses in London caused a further decline in the prices of favorite American rails of from 3 to 4 points below parity. Union Pacific fell 3¾, Southern Pacific 3, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 2¾, and Canadian Pacific 2 points.

The market at noon was exceedingly weak, each selling order from New York increasing the general anxiety. The weakness extended to other sections. Consols dropped 3 1-6, and Kaffirs and Foreigners were also offered at a lower level.

WAITING FOR RISE IN COPPER.

Town of Coram Thunderstruck at Stopping of Work on Smelter.

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 22.—In obedience to orders received from Boston, the Balakiwa Copper Company at Coram stopped construction work yesterday on the big smelter now nearly completed, at a cost of $1,000,000. Every man in the company's employ was dismissed, save enough to care for the machinery now arriving. All accounts are to be closed, and nothing will be done towards completing the smelter or re-opening the mine until the copper market is more favorable.

The town of Coram, with a population of 1,500, was thunderstruck at the situation. It was expected that the smelter would start up before the new year. Now the opening is put off indefinitely, or until copper is selling higher. So far the flurry in the copper markets has made no difference in the copper camps of Keswick, Kennett and Ingot, where the smelters are running as formerly, and there is no talk of shutting them down.

CHICAGO NOT INVOLVED.

Financial Institutions on Sound Basis, with No Weak Spots.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The officials of the banks of this city are a unit in declaring that never in the history of the city have its financial institutions been on as sound a basis as they are at present. Cashier B. M. Chatfell of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank declares that there are no weak spots in the banks of Chicago. Mr. Chatfell and other local financiers assert that the financial troubles in New York do not involve Chicago in the slightest degree.

DECLINES IN PITTSBURG.

Some Scarcity of Money, but Financial Situation Sound.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 22.—Apparent forced liquidation in a few prominent local stocks caused further declines on the Pittsburg exchange today, but there was no excitement. Except for the scarcity of money, the financial situation here is regarded as sound.

LEAVES FOR NEW YORK.

Secretary of Treasury Prepared to Meet Any Position That Comes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—When Secretary Cortelyou was questioned regarding the New York situation he said he was not prepared to make any statement. It is known, however, that he stands ready to meet any situation that may develop, and that he is in a position to do this. It is understood that he has ordered $6,000,000 distributed among the leading national banks of New York.

Acting upon advices from New York regarding the financial situation, Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou will leave for New York at 4 o'clock today.

Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely, in speaking of the financial situation in New York today, said: "My advices this morning are reassuring, and the situation there should now improve. The storm has broken, and the damage known, without any failures of the national banks which have lately been criticised. The Clearing House confirms my reports that these banks are all solvent, and is standing by them. Their debit balances at the Clearing House today are less than expected and I understand one bank paid its balance without help. The national banks of the country generally are in strong shape, and there is not the slightest occasion for any alarm in regard to them. This is a time for coolness and prudence, not for alarm."

No changes in the prices of local stocks are attributing directly to the New York situation.

RAN INTO SWITCHING ENGINE.

New Bedford Train Escapes Going Over Weir Junction Embankment.

TAUNTON, Mass., Oct. 22.—The train from New Bedford on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, due in this city at 11:20 o'clock today, ran into a switching engine at Weir Junction, just before reaching the station, and narrowly escaped going over a steep embankment. Both engines were badly damaged, and one of the firemen was injured. The crews on both engines jumped. The passengers were subjected to a severe shaking up, but all escaped without injury. The tracks were blocked for several hours.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22, Wall Street—The stock market opened demoralized, with Amalgamated Copper at 44, American Smelting 66, American Locomotive 45, Anaconda 28, Atchison 78, Baltimore & Ohio 86, Brooklyn 38¾, Canadian Pacific 156, Erie 19, Great Northern preferred 116½, Louisville & Nashville 96, Missouri Pacific 52½, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 25½, New York Central 99¾, Northern Pacific 116½, Pennsylvania 115½, Reading 81¼, Rock Island 15½, St. Paul 111½, Sugar 105, Southern Pacific 71, Southern Railway 12⅞, Union Pacific 114, United States Steel 28⅜, and United States Steel preferred 84.

10—The stock market opened in great disorder, and at wide declines in prices, under a heavy unloading of stocks in all parts of the list. Losses in the principal stocks were uniform between 2 and 3 points, and in Reading 4¼, Canadian Pacific 3¾, Union Pacific 3½, Amalgamated 3¾, and Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Delaware & Hudson and American Ice about 3 points. The stocks in which declines ran between 2 and 3 were St. Paul, Atchison, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Great Northern Ore, Northwestern, Brooklyn Transit, Pennsylvania, National Lead and American Tobacco preferred. There was a handful of isolated gains in contrast to the prevailing slump. American Car preferred rose 1½, and Sloss Sheffield Steel 1.

Noon—Money on call, strong, at 15 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 7 @ 7½ per cent. Liquidation continued intermittently in heavy volumes through the morning. This selling developed supporting orders on a scale downwards, which regulated the rate of the declines, as there were wide drops in prices between sales. The fall in prices, however, was violent, in Northern Pacific it reaching 7 points, Delaware & Hudson 6¾, American Ice, Union Pacific and Reading 6, General Electric 5½, Illinois Central and American Smelting 5, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha and Southern Pacific 4¾, St. Paul 4½, Great Northern preferred 4 and Louisville & Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line, Northwestern, United States Steel preferred and the National Lead stocks 3 to 2¾. Bonds were weak.

LIEUTENANT CRONAN'S BRAVERY

Presence of Mind Prevents Repetition of Georgia's Disaster on Board Battleship Connecticut.

To save the lives of a score of men who were with him in the starboard after turret of the battleship during the target practice of the North Atlantic squadron, off Cape Cod last month, Lieutenant William Pigott Cronan of the Connecticut jammed his right hand into the breach of an eight-inch gun just as the block was being swung into position. The forefinger was cut off above the first joint, and the rest of the hand was badly mangled.

Lieutenant Cronan's presence of mind and his bravery prevented grains of powder, which had sifted through a small hole in one of the bags of the charge that had been rammed into the gun, from igniting as the block was screwed into place. Had the grains ignited the charge would have been exploded prematurely and the block hurled back into the turret, possibly killing or seriously injuring every man there, and imperilling the ship.

Although a board of inquiry has been appointed to determine who was responsible for the leak in the bag of powder and the injury to Lieutenant Cronan, it was not until yesterday at the New York navy yard that the act of heroism on the part of the officer became known outside of those who were in the turret at the time. Lieutenant Cronan took every precaution to keep the world from learning why he carried his hand in a bandage.

On the day of the accident all four of the eight-inch guns were in action. The men had become fatigued and were going through the movements of loading and firing the gun automatically. A shot had just been fired and the gun crew was shoving in another charge, when, just as the man at the breech was jamming in the last bag, Lieutenant Cronan, who was standing several feet away, saw something glistening in the steel threads of the breech lock.

He realized that the shining specks were grains of powder, and that to screw the block fast would ignite the grains and explode the charge. This would tear the block out of the breech, fill the turret with death dealing flames and repeat the catastrophe which had cost the lives of several men on the Georgia a few days before.

Already the man at the breech was swinging the block around into position. Lieutenant Cronan sprang forward and shouted "Silence!" a command which made every man, with one exception, stand motionless. The one who did not obey was the gunner whose duty it was to close the breech. Apparently he had not heard, or at least had misunderstood the command of the lieutenant.

Just as the block was about to slip into position the lieutenant's right hand shot into the opening. It was caught between the breech block and the wall of the gun. The forefinger was cut off, and, dropping into the threads of the breech, clogged the mechanism.

When the danger had passed, Lieutenant Cronan withdrew his hand and ordered the men out of the turret. The gunner whose failure to obey had nearly cost the lives of the entire crew and caused great damage to the Connecticut, dropped to the floor of the turret in a faint. His companions carried him below.

When Lieutenant Cronan was asked about the incident yesterday he said it amounted to nothing. He was clearly displeased that the matter had become known outside the ship. To escape further questioning he left the navy yard and said he would not be back for several days. It was learned that the gunner who was in charge of the breech block is now awaiting the court of inquiry.

Major George P. Parsey, detailed member ordnance board.

Captain Ernest A. Greenough, detailed for service and to fill vacancy in pay department, November 28, vice Captain Marcellus G. Spinks, paymaster, relieved. Captain Greenough will report for duty in San Francisco.

The Newport Journal and Weekly News contains an immense amount of local matter.

OF THE HIGHEST CHARACTER.

Fine Music, Performed in a Finished Manner.

Great Beethoven Quartet the Chief Feature of the Kneisel Quartet Concert.

The name of the Kneisel Quartet and the certainty of hearing fine music performed in a thoroughly finished and artistic manner by an organization whose aim and achievement have always been the highest, called a large audience to Masonic hall last evening, in spite of the sharp winter air. The quartet comes this season with two new members, who are proving themselves worthy successors of Messrs. Schroeder and Theodorowitz. Mr. Willeke plays sympathetically, with a complete mastery of his instrument, and elicited a storm of applause at the close of his solos, so prolonged and deafening that he was obliged to play again, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour. Particularly dainty and restful was the little Renard Berceuse, No. 2, Op. 20; one would know it for a cradle song without looking at the program. The Van Goens Scherzo was a vivid contrast and showed the fine technique of the artist. Mr. Roentgen's intonation and style were exquisitely pure. Of necessity, however, the ensemble could not be as perfect as that of the old quartet, who had played together so many years that their name had become a synonym on both sides of the Atlantic for oneness of thought and execution.

The program, with the exception of the short Paganini number, which was delightful in its oddity and flying pizzicato (such would be expected from the greatest and most erratic violin virtuoso the world has yet known) and the violoncello solos, was severely classical. Mr. Kneisel is so well known as an interpreter of all schools, that it would have been interesting to have heard, perhaps in place of the Mendelssohn quartet, one by a much-talked-of modern composer, as Revel or Debussy, more especially as one has a distinct recollection of the vivid, passionate, exquisite playing of the Dvorak Terzetto, op. 74, by Messrs. Kneisel, Theodorowicz and Svecenski, two years ago. Be that as it may, one could hardly spare the Mendelssohn number, even though it is not considered pure quartet writing. It has much to recommend it—its fiery allegro, its appealing slow movement and the ever-present Mendelssohnian grace and charm.

Just why the order of the Scherzo and the Andante in the Schumann piano quartet was reversed does not matter. The deep, tender melody of the violoncello was just as tender, and the Scherzo just as brilliant. It was an interested and well liked number, and was played by Messrs. Kneisel, Svecenski and Willeke, with Mr. A. G. Langley at the piano. Mr. Langley played also the accompaniments to Mr. Willeke's solos.

The piece de resistance was of course the great Beethoven quartet, of which a description was given in the News this week. It is one of a group written for the Prince Rasoumowsky, and reveals the master in many moods. It is an exceedingly fine specimen of pure quartet writing. Themes appear and re-appear, and are handed about from one instrument to another with the hand of no novice. The four instruments represent, as they should, four different voices, yet all one. The opening Allegro and Allegretto are in Beethoven's gayest mood, when earth and sky and sea and forest all appealed to him and charmed him from his gloomy thoughts. The Adagio is one of the most beautiful of the great composer's beautiful adagios, beautiful wherever found, whether written for strings or for piano. John K. Paine has said: "Beethoven is the least of a mannerist of all composers. Each composition leaves a separate image and impression on the mind." His movements are built on the broadest foundations and he carried the art of free thematic treatment to a point never equalled. For variety of dynamic changes, of rhythmic syncopations, for depths and heights of feeling, he still has no peer. Smiles, laughter, merry-making, bitterness, sorrow, passion and storm sweep along in infinite variety; yet the structure is as perfect as that of a great Gothic cathedral. It was fitting that the Beethoven quartet should hold the place of honor last night.

Such playing and such sort of music as was given last night cannot fail to be of great educational value. The quartet will always be warmly received in Newport.

"THE LADY FROM LANE'S" CAST.

Broadhurst & Currie have engaged for the musical comedy, "The Lady from Lane's," a company of Broadway favorites headed by Thomas Wise, who made a big hit in "The Little Cherub" last season, and Trudy Shattuck, who did clever work with George M. Cohan for two seasons and more recently with Anna Held in "The Parisian Model." She will have the principal feminine role, that of a female detective, Ida Hawley, who has sung prima donna roles with Fritzi Scheff, in "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," and many other Broadway successes; Adele Rafter, Mrs. E. A. Eberle, Sydney Jarvis, Percy Bronson, William Burrows and Frank Kelley are a few of the coterie of singers and comedians. There is besides a large chorus of good singers and dainty dancers. The scenes, which are laid at Old Point Comfort, Va., have afforded great opportunities to the scenic artist and costumer.

THE ADAM GOOD COMPANY.

A large, well pleased audience greeted the Adam Good Company at the opening performance at the Opera House last evening, and judging from the applause the company has lost none of its popularity of the past two seasons. The opening bill was "The College Girl," presented here on former visits. The play is bright and entertaining, has much good comedy and many unique characters, a pretty love story dominating the plot. It is an interesting stage picture and treats of college life in general.

Bessie Overton, a favorite in Newport, has an excellent opportunity to display the wide range of her dramatic ability, and improved it well. As Gail Hadleigh, Miss Overton was all that could be desired. Scenically, the company, as in the past, is above the average stock companies.

CHRISTMAS TRIP TO SOUTH.

Yale Musical Clubs Will This Year Vary Usual Program.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—Contrary to the custom of the past several years, the Christmas trip of the Yale musical clubs this year will be made through the South instead of the West. Going as far as New Orleans, the clubs will travel westward to Dallas and Houston, Texas, where the start for home will be made.

MARRIED IN LONDON.

Miss Gwendoline Cary Weds Mr. Francis H. Potter, Nephew of Rt. Rev. Bishop Potter.

The marriage of Miss Gwendoline Cary, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Carr Cary of New York, to Mr. Francis H. Potter, son of Mr. Frank Potter and nephew of Miss L. E. Blatchford of this city, took place Monday at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, London. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Bull. The bride was given away by Mr. Wilson Miles Cary. There was no maid of honor or bridesmaids. Mr. Philip Potter, brother of the bridegroom acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mandsley in Montpelier square, Mrs. Mandsley being a cousin of the bride.

Miss Cary belongs to one of the oldest families of Virginia, that of Mr. Randolph Cary, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Carr Cary and a granddaughter of Mrs. Wilson Miles Cary.

Mr. Potter is a nephew of Rt. Rev. Bishop Potter and of the late Edward T. Potter, and had lived with his aunt, Miss S. E. Blatchford, spending the summers at Newport where he is well known. He is now one of the secretaries of the American legation at Lisbon, Portugal.

Among those at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ridgeley Carter, Miss Carter, Mr. Lydig Hoyt, Mr. Craig Wadsworth, Mr. Charles Page Bryan, Baron von Versen of the German legation at Lisbon, Graf von Barre, Lord and Lady Faulland, who are cousins of the bridegroom; Lord Fairfax, Prince Thurn and Taxis, Lord Yarmouth, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Miss Blatchford, Miss Alice Potter, a sister of the bridegroom, and Lady Hartwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter will spend their honeymoon partly in France and partly in Leicester, England, after which they will go to Lisbon.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

For the third time Mr. and Mrs. Belmont are petitioning the Board of Aldermen to close up portions of Lake View avenue, Ledge road and Coggeshall avenue. Four years ago when this matter was before the Board of Aldermen the public was so opposed to closing these roads that Mr. Belmont wrote a letter to the mayor, requesting that he be permitted to withdraw the petitions. It was apparent to everybody who attended the hearing at that time that the people of Newport were greatly aroused and opposed to closing the roads in question. The writer is of the opinion that the public at this time is just as much opposed to closing Coggeshall avenue, Lake View avenue and Ledge road as it was four years ago or eight years ago.

The public cannot be benefited by the proposed change. The present roads are of great benefit to the entire community and the change is desired only by Mr. and Mrs. Belmont. Mr. Belmont selected the location of his present home at the corner of Lake View avenue and Ledge road and has no reason to complain on that account. Lake View avenue and Ledge road were open long before Mr. Belmont located there, and he has no moral or legal right to put the public to great expense and inconvenience simply to benefit him in the occupation of his property, or to make a lawn of public roads.

ARCTIC EXPLORER ANNEXES LANDS FOR CANADA.

Captain Bernier, with government steamer Arctic, has arrived in Quebec after an absence of 15 months in the Arctic regions. He left Quebec in July, 1906, and wintered at Ponds Inlet, and during his absence covered about 11,000 miles of sailing. The captain had annexed a number of islands in the far North, and the Canadian domain is now enlarged by the addition of some 500,000 square miles. All whalers in the North were visited and licenses issued. Captain Bernier has also brought back records of Sverdrup, Peary McClintock and McClure, which will be forwarded to Ottawa with other records of the islands annexed.

The expedition of Bernier has excited particular interest owing to his contention that the North Pole belongs to Canada, with all the lands intervening. He held furthermore that it was the Dominion's duty to explore all of its territory, and this idea has been the primary if not the only cause of his work in the North. Whatever his motives may have been, however, it cannot be questioned that he has enlarged Canadian territory to a considerable extent, even though he has not been successful in his attempts to annex the North Pole.

COUGHING SPELLS DISTURB NIGHT.

Insufficient Expectoration, and Less Strength.

Emperor's Disease Pursuing Fluctuating Course.

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—Emperor Francis Joseph did not pass as good a night as usual, owing to frequent attacks of coughing. He rose before 4 o'clock, and when he was examined by his doctors they found that the catarrhal symptoms were unchanged, but there had not been sufficient expectoration, and that his strength was less satisfactory than yesterday, but he was not suffering from fever. In brief, his malady is pursuing an irregular, fluctuating course. After the doctor's examination His Majesty attended to his regular work, as usual.

ROAD TO DISCUSS LITIGATION.

Alabama Will Permit Southern Same Rate as in Georgia.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 22.—Under an agreement between Governor Comer and the officials of the Southern railway, reached late last night, the Southern will dismiss its litigation attacking the law-made rates in the federal courts, and the state of Alabama will permit the road to charge a passenger rate permitted the same road in Georgia, which is 25 per cent higher than the standard Georgia rate. The Southern is also assured in this agreement such immunity from the legislation of the recent session of the legislature as Governor Comer and the members of the railroad commission can give it.

NEW HAVEN MAKES REPLY.

To Appeal to Courts if Agreement Cannot be Reached on Car Rate.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—An official statement was issued by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company today, in reply to the statement of the American Railway Association on the per-diem car demurrage rate. The former statement declares that connecting roads are sending derelict cars to the New Haven system, that its earnings per ton per mile are kept down by the handling of low class freight, which comes to it from the connecting trunk lines, and that it was a mistake to have ever entered into the all-rail coal business.

In its concluding paragraphs the statement says: "The time has gone by when any railroad or association of railroads can be a law unto itself and can assess penalties for things they assume but do not know to be the conditions prevailing in territory wherein another road operates, punishing a community as well as a common carrier."

The New Haven road takes the position that an agreement would be better than recourse to the courts, but the latter will be appealed to rather than submit to unjust charges.

NEW YORK POLICEMAN KILLED.

East Side Officer Had Incurred Enmity of Gang of Crooks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—While patrolling his beat in the lower East Side early today Eugene S. Sheehan, a policeman, was shot and killed. William Morley, 24 years of age, was arrested, charged with the crime. He gave a police a lively chase, and it was not until he had emptied his revolver at his pursuers that he was captured. He was taken to a hospital, suffering from severe scalp wounds as a result of resisting arrest.

Patrolman Sheehan had incurred the enmity of a gang of crooks which infests the district, by making many arrests. Sheehan is said to have been heard ordering Morley to get out of the district just before the shooting.
